"Yes," he replied judiciously, "if

"Write what you know about the

"The depression," wrote little Jimmy, "is a period in which we go

"A man should always learn his gentleman in the smoking room.

"So he should," agreed his fellow passenger. "There's nothing so an-

"By the way," the young man asked, "where is your hospital?"
"I am at the maternity hos-

The fascination of "Robinson Crusoe" is not limited to the juvenile reader. There was once a respected old Alderman of Oxford, Tawney by name, who used to read it through every year, with no lessening of delight. He considered every part of it as true.

One day a friend asked him how he could give credence to a story so fantastic. "The original Crusue," he added, "was Alexander Selkirk. Daniel Defoe, an ingenuous writer, embellished the plain story of his shipwreck upon the island of Juan Fernandez with almost all the adventures and dialogue you so much admire."

Mr. Tawney gazed at his friend sadly as he replied: "Your information may be correct, but I had rather you had withheld it;
for by thus deceiving me you have deprived old age of one of its greatest pleasures."

PLANE LANDING ON NORMANDIE

Flying Officer On Trial

London, July 20.
As a sequel to the forced landing of a Royal Air Force machine on the deck of the French super-liner Normandie on June 23, Flying Officer Horsey (Naval Lieutenant) appeared before a court-martial at Gosport to-day and pleaded not guilty.

He was charged with damaging an aircraft and causing risk to lives of people aboard the Normandie and other ships by negligent flying.

It appears Flying Officer Horsey was engaged in dummy torpedo practice at the time of the collision.

The prosecution said it was a miracle nobody aboard the Normandie was injured by the crash.
It was alleged that the officer had flown too low. The plane had suffered $6,000 damages.

The case is proceeding—

SITUATION IN SPAIN

Ex-King Alfonso's
Opinion

FIGHT AGAINST LEFT WING

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Prague, July 20.
Ex-King Alfonso of Spain, who is at present staying at Metternich Castle in Bohemia, explained to pressmen the nature of the present situation in Spain.

Alfonso said that the revolution
now in progress is not a struggle between Monarchists and Republicans, for or against a Monarchy, but it is a National Movement in which Monarchists and Republicans are fighting together against a Left Wing Government. Hence it would be unjustifiable to reckon with any restoration of the Monarchy as a result of this movement.

The ex-King said what he himself wished was to see Spain rescued from the present Left Wing Government with its daily murders and upheaval, and see it replaced by a peaceful and orderly Right Wing regime, supported by the army.

EX-GENERAL'S VIEWS

Lisbon, July 20.
The exiled Spanish General, Sen-juro who lives in Portugal, made a declaration to representatives of the Press concerning the latest developments in Spain.

The General stated that the Spanish army is the sole source of strength in the Spanish people, on which devolves that task of putting an end to the unprecedented conditions in Spain. The General said that the hospitality granted him by Portugal was the reason why he could say so much that he was with his comrades in Spain.

EMPLOYERS' THREAT IN AKRON

Marked Effect On Workers

Akron, O., July 20.

Probably in view of the threat of Akron employers to move a great part of their plant to Los Angeles and to throw stubborn, higher-wage advocates and strikers out of employment here, members of the local Rubber Workers Union to-day agreed to refrain from the threatening sit-down strike for six weeks.

Union officials hope to put a permanent end to strike action by the men, and they have been much criticized for their failure to prevent unofficial walk-outs in the immediate past.

DEVELOPMENT OF P. I. MINING AVIATION'S IMPORTANT PART

As in practically every other new mining country in the world, aviation is playing an important part in the development of the industry in the Philippines. There is but one mining region in the Philippines which is easily accessible from Manila, and that is the Bulacan area, a few hours from the capital city.

All of the other mining districts are in remote regions. Even Baguio, the most favourably located district of all, is five hours by automobile, about seven hours by train, and is inaccessible during storms. Masbate can be reached by interisland boats; the Paracale district can be reached by a combined train-boat automobile route, or by boat; Mindanao, of course, is long distant and can be reached by boat.

THE WORK OF AVIATION
Commercial aviation has done much to bring the mining districts within easy reach of Manila. The importance of this cannot be overestimated, particularly to the mines which are in production, or nearly so. Time is all important in mining; engineering talent comes high, and a competent engineer must be paid just as much while he is travelling as while he is working. Vital pieces of machinery, when missing, will hold up the operations of an expensive plant. Likewise, the time element is important when sickness and accidents occur at mining camps.

The Philippine Aerial Taxi Company finished its millionth mile of flying in May of this year—Patco ship had been in the air for 8,652 hours and carried 10,890 passengers with neither injuries nor accidents. Regular service between Baguio and Manila was first started in September, 1933—when the mining industry was barely coming into its own. Since then both mining and commercial aviation have grown in leaps and bounds, and the mining industry has been the greatest supporter of aviation.

Marsman and Company and the Soriano interests are the largest company users of flying. The former has brought new life to the Paracale-Mambulao district, while the latter has done the same for the Masbate district. The rapid growth of mining in Paracale and Mambulao has been aided considerably by aviation. Marsman engineers have made many trips to United Paracale, San Mauricio, and Coco Grove by plane, and as a result of their work at those properties, a regular schedule was started to Paracale in October, 1935. That schedule is now tri-weekly.

Andres Soriano has two planes of his own, which are flown by Patco pilots, chiefly on charter trips between Manila and Masbate.

INDIVIDUAL RECORD
A mining man, A. F. Dugleby, executive in the Benguet organization, holds the individual record for use of Patco planes. Up to the first of May, 1935, he had made 108 trips in Patco's ships for a total of 220 hours in the air and a mileage of 26,480 miles.

Not only has the mining industry been served through the transportation of engineers. Lives have been saved, and necessary supplies brought in when all other means failed.

Patco's record of safety is a tribute to the care which the company's executives use. Flying to Baguio during rainy weather is far from an easy task; there have been but few days, however, on which the Patco plane has not completed the round trip. When conditions are too bad for landing in Baguio, the ships are brought down in Naguilian; when the weather is hopelessly bad, of course, the planes do not take off—but days on which the Patco pilots can not get through to Baguio are rare.

Mining men head Patco. J. H. Marsman is president of the company, and B. S. Ohnick, connected with the Marsman interests, is vice-president. Kurt Gronke is secretary and treasurer; Henry J. Belden is assistant treasurer, and W. R. Bradford is general manager. The Patco pilots are Mr. Bradford, L. C. Heston, B. H. Hall, and R. K. Black.

PROGRAMME OF REARMAMENT

DEBATE IN COMMONS

Food Supply Will Soon Be Ample

London July 20.

The Minister for Coordination of Defence, Sir Thomas Inskip, initiating the debate in the House of Commons tonight gave a review of his department's efforts to accelerate the programme of rearmament. Referring to the naval programme he said in ship production, equipment and personnel the reports were satisfactory, and while maintenance and replacements have been proceeding in the normal manner, additions and expansions on a growing scale were constantly taking place. He was not aware of any anxiety in any quarter as to the naval position.

MUNITIONS SUPPLY

Regarding munitions supply when new sources they hoped to secure among private firms were available and the Government factories were in production, 1/2 of the total requirements in shell, fuse and cartridge case would be provided. Great advance had been made since the spoke eight weeks ago in provision of the necessary gauges of all types and descriptions. Sir Thomas Inskip announced the dispersal of the Royal Ordnance Factory at Woolwich to various points in South Wales, Lancashire and Scotland.

Turning to the Air Force the Minister said it was a new and unknown factor in future war, its development in machines and equipment during the last three or four years was simply amazing.

The best illustration was that machines were under production to-day for regular use in air force which five years ago would have been serious competitors for Schneider Cup. Coming to the question of expansion of aircraft production, he said that comparing April, May and June with the corresponding period last year, delivery was about 3 1/2 times as many aeroplanes and over twice as many engines.

Before he concluded, Sir Thomas Inskip spoke of the work being done on the problem of food supplies in war time and said they were on the point of reaching conclusions which he hoped would ensure the country increased output by agriculture as well as sufficiency of supply from abroad of all essential food and feeding stuffs for which the country was dependent on imports.

THE OPPOSITION

Mr. Lees Smith for the Opposition and Liberal spokesman, Sir Archibald Sinclair, complained that Sir Thomas Inskip's speech showed lack of coordination between rearmament programme and foreign policy and between the assumed requirements of Great Britain and the collective system generally.

Mr. Churchill said he thought he could assure Sir Archibald Sinclair in any war in which Britain would ever be engaged, she would be acting entirely in conformity with the spirit of the Covenant of the League of Nations. He went on to criticise the administrative system adopted by the Government for Coordination of Defence, describing Sir Thomas Inskip as an innocent victim of responsibility so strangely, so inharmoniously and so perversely grouped and endowed with powers so restricted, that no one could regard the experiment as satisfactory. He urged the separation of the function of coordinating high strategic thoughts from those connected with material supplies.

PEKING INCIDENT

London, July 20.

The Foreign Secretary gave the Commons' answer to-day on the question of the conduct of the recent investigations into charges against the two British soldiers at Peking, made by officials of the Japanese Embassy in Peking, and reproduced in the local newspaper. Mr. Eden said His Majesty's Ambassador at Tokyo had been instructed to bring the matter to the notice of the Japanese Government.

TO AUSTRALIA IN LUXURY

FOUR DAY TRIP IN A £14,000 AIR LINER

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 3.

Four men will step into a streamlined luxury air express at Harnworth Aerodrome on Tuesday, writes a correspondent.

On Friday evening they hope to land in Australia—and they are not on a stunt flight or try to break records!

Their machine will be Britain's fastest air liner, the £14,000 Monospar Croydon, of which Mr. C. R. Anson yesterday took delivery.

As exclusively revealed in the "Daily Mirror" last month, the flight to Australia is the result of an after-dinner challenge, accepted by Lord Sempill, that Britain had no machines capable of beating the Americans.

With Lord Sempill as joint pilot will be Mr. H. Woods, Mr. Anson's private pilot, and their crew will be wireless operator Gilroy, and ground engineer Davis.

SMOKING ALLOWED

Yesterday I went for a spin in this 200 m.p.h. silver monoplane. I smoked—rare luxury in an aeroplane—and the smoke was wafted miraculously away through ventilators.

I moved a lever and the scotch-padded chair fell back until it was almost a bed.

Without raising my voice I spoke to a passenger in the front of the plane and he heard perfectly. For inside this machine there is no more noise than in a road coach.

An electric button brought a steward to attend to my wants.

BAD WEATHER EXPECTED

The Croydon seats ten passengers and carries a crew of two.

For the Australian flight two of the passenger seats will be removed to make room for two extra tanks holding an extra eighty gallons of petrol.

This is being done because bad weather conditions are expected as the monsoon season is now on.

Lord Sempill stressed the fact that, except for the extra tanks, the plane is an absolutely standard commercial machine.

The all-in operational cost is only 1/2d. per passenger mile.

By day and night the plane will speed towards Australia on a route similar to that chosen for the Melbourne air race.

BIRDS TO BE WELL LOOKED AFTER

MEMORIAL TO AN AMERICAN LADY

To Be Fed Each Day In Summer 'For Ever'

London, July 2.

Never again, while roses bloom in England, need the wild birds in the heart of London go hungry.

In assuring that, Mr. Alexander Angus, a wealthy American, has created a memorial to his wife, whose love for London's pigeons and sparrows reads like a page from a fairy tale.

Seventeen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Angus left their home in New Jersey for a health trip to England. They stayed at the Savoy Hotel, but Mrs. Angus was too ill to go sight-seeing.

FED FROM HER HAND

It was summer. The windows of her bedroom overlooking the Embankment Gardens were open; wild birds perched on the balcony.

During her long days of convalescence those pigeons and sparrows became the joy of Mrs. Angus's life.

Every day she would walk across to the Embankment Gardens with crumbs and tidbits for them and soon they became so tame that they flew into her room for their afternoon feed.

Before Mrs. Angus was well again they were feeding from her hand at the bedside.

August came, and Mr. and Mrs. Angus went back to America, but every summer since then they returned to London and took their old room at the Savoy.

Mrs. Angus never failed to go to the Gardens to feed her birds and the birds just as regularly waited for her coming.

FOR ALL TIME

Early this year Mrs. Angus died in New Jersey, aged about sixty.

June arrived, and the London birds waited for their friend to come out of the hotel at feeding-time. The did not wait in vain.

Mr. Angus has created a trust fund making an allowance to two of the Savoy waiters for feeding them every day between June and August as his wife had done.

Punctually at 2.30 yesterday the waiters came out of the Savoy with napkins laden with crumbs. In the Embankment Gardens they kept the trust of the woman who lies buried 3,500 miles away.

So it will be every day during June, July and August for all time.

Pan American And British Airways Agree On Joint Atlantic Service

(By JOSEPH BAIRD).

Washington, July 10.

Informed quarters to-day confirmed that representatives of Pan-American Airways and British Imperial Airways have come to an agreement covering joint trans-Atlantic airplane service.

It was expected that service would be inaugurated in a few weeks with experimental flights.

It was understood that Pan-American Airways will use Martin flying boats similar to those in service across the Pacific.

There are two alternate routes, one via Canada, Newfoundland and Ireland, and the other via Bermuda and the Azores.

It was presumed that the northern route would be flown in summer and the southern route in winter.

Establishment of the service was delayed by long negotiations and inability of the various nations concerned to agree to landing rights and other features which had to be worked out.

Portugal is a party to any plan to use the southern route, because of her possession of the Azores. It was noted that this introduced a complexity in the situation wherein Pan-American Airways has been planning to use Macao, Portuguese concession in China, as the Atlantic terminal of the trans-Pacific service.

While details of the agreement have not been disclosed, it was believed that consummation thereof might open the way for inauguration of service from the Philippines to Macao.

It was understood that during the negotiations the American interests held out for an equal number of planes in service as British planes. Britain was reported to be insisting that because of her control of the northern route and partial control of the southern route through her possession of Bermuda, that she control a majority of the trans-Atlantic operations.

How this point was settled was not known.

It was also reported that Britain sought to exclude other European nations from trans-Atlantic service in order to obtain a monopoly on the business, but that United States negotiators preferred that at least one other country be given an opportunity to operate an air-line.

It was understood that the British were extremely reluctant to grant French or German companies landing rights on British soil. One reason for the American position was believed to be a desire to keep the way open for landing privileges on the continent for American planes.

Negotiations between the companies were closely followed by government officials because of the government interest in the problem.

One high government official, commenting on the angle of exclusive privileges, said:

"We don't want to permit the same situation to prevail in regard to air travel as now prevails in shipping, where all nations or the world compete for business in our own ports with the American merchant marine."

It was noteworthy that on the trans-Atlantic hop no distance involved would be greater than the 2,400-mile span which Pan-American planes on the Pacific are flying over regularly between San Francisco and Honolulu.

MAIL NEWS OF THE WEEKGossip From Far And Near

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 23.

It is a tribute either to the conscientiousness or the wisdom of our M.P.s that Ascot does not seem to be luring many from their posts of duty. A large attendance yesterday was rewarded with some lively passages during question time.

Mr. Robert Bernays, who has constituted himself the critic of the women M.P.s, succeeded in silencing Miss Wilkinson with a remark which drew laughter.

Miss Wilkinson was showing a keen interest in the placing of orders for defence materials.

Suddenly Mr. Bernays said, "Is the Minister of Defence not aware that the honourable lady has opposed any form of defence on every occasion?"

MR. SMITH SCENTS A PLOT

It remained for Mr. Smith, member of Staffordshire, to bring the biggest laugh of the afternoon. This new member has a voice considerably larger than the rest of him.

Yesterday he was deeply concerned about the country-house meeting of Herr von Ribbentrop and Air-Marshal Sir Edward Allington.

When the Prime Minister said that such meetings must prove entirely advantageous, Mr. Smith drew himself up to his full five feet four inches.

"Mr. Speaker, I beg to give notice that at the end of question time
I shall move the adjournment of House on this important question."
It must have been a good two minutes before the laughter subsided.

MR. SPEAKER AS TACTICIAN

But the new member had not reckoned on that skilled tactician, Mr. Speaker. As Mr. Smith began to unfold the true inwardness of the country-house plot the Speaker rose.

It was one of his duties, he pointed out, to decide whether a motion for adjournment should be discussed or not. On this occasion he saw reason to allow the discussion.

"With all due respect," said Mr.
Smith, "I would like to say that this country is the greatest democracy in the world."

"Even that," replied the Speaker, "does not alter the case."

Mr. Hardie, brother of the famous Keir, then leaped into the fray. He was quite purple with indignation when he was ruled out of order.

"But I was on my feet," he protested.

"So was I," said the Speaker calmly. "The Clerk will now proceed to read the orders of the day."

CORONATION FIRST COMMISSIONER

Lord Stanhope attended his first Cabinet meeting yesterday morning. He had been appointed the previous evening, and was sworn in immediately before the meeting.

For the time being he will, I understand, continue to answer questions in the House of Lords on foreign affairs. His first big public duties as First Commissioner of Works will be in connection with the Coronation.

The Duke of Norfolk, as Earl Marshal, is responsible for all the Coronation arrangements. His has a Coronation Committee to assist him.

If precedent is followed, the heads of the departments concerned, such as the First Commissioner of Works and the Commissioner of Police, will be members of this committee.

Among his other duties Lord Stanhope will have to arrange the sites of stands on the Coronation route and superintend their erection.

The First Commissioner at the time of King George's Coronation was also a peer—Lord Beauchamp.
At King Edward's the office was held by a commoner—Mr. Akers-Douglas, afterwards the first Lord
Chilton, and father of the present
Ambassador in Moscow.

BART'S TO LORD HORDER
I understand that Lord Horder, who retired from the post of senior physician to Bart's last January, is shortly to sit for his portrait.

The picture, which has been commissioned by the governors of the hospital and by Old Bart's men all over the world will be painted by Mr. William Nicholson.

When it is finished it will be presented to Lord Horder, who will in turn present it to the hospital.

It will be placed on an easel in the Great Hall beside the 25 other portraits of famous Bart's men of the past.

Among these the best known is that of John Abernethy, the greatest surgeon that ever came out of Bart's. The most recent is that of Sir Anthony Bowley, formerly President of the Royal College of Surgeons, who died in 1928.

The presentation of the portrait this year will be peculiarly appropriate. It was in 1895-40 years ago—that Lord Horder qualified from Bart's. He is still a consulting physician to the hospital.

ETONIANS AT ASCOT

At the Provost's funeral several old Etonians remarked on the sad co-incidence that he should have been buried in Ascot Week.

They were remembering the legend that the Provost, when a boy, had cycled to Ascot and back during the races.

This was prompted by enthusiasm not for racing but for cycling. As a keen cyclist he might have been able to cover, on a machine of the 'seventies, the eight miles from Eton to the course in an hour.

Whatever means of transport he adopted an Eton boy could not nowadays visit Ascot without detection.

Tuesday and Thursday in Ascot Week are not—as they are usually —half-holidays. School therefore lasts till four o'clock. Absence is called at 4.30.

Incidentally, the new Headmaster has shown himself to be by no means prejudiced in the matter of racing. He went this year to the Derby as the guest of Lord Derby.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S FIRST VISIT

Charles Greville, that great racing man, and one of Sir Maurice Hankey's predecessors as Clerk of the Privy Council, occasionally mentions in his memoirs the Ascots of 100 years ago.

In 1835—Queen Victoria's first Ascot—he writes:

A great concourse of people on Thursday; the Queen tolerably received; some shouting, not a great deal, and few hats taken off. This mark of respect has quite gone out of use, and neither her station nor her sex procures it.

Two years later, on the other hand, he notes that "nothing could be more enthusiastic than her reception at Ascot."

In 1835, when riding to the course from Stoke Poges, where he was staying, he met one of William IV's sons.

As they crossed Windsor Park together FitzClarence said to Gre-ville that he had told his father he must give a dinner for the Ascots races.

"You know I cannot give a dinner," William IV, answered. "I cannot give any dinners without inviting my Ministers, and I would rather see the Devil than any one of them in my house."

VICTORY FOR A LOST CAUSE

There was a whiff of the old "home of lost causes" Oxford in Dr. J. K. Fotheringham's remark in Congress that smoking is a very serious interference with intellectual activity.

Dr. Fotheringham led the anti-smoking forces to a minor victory.
The resolution to allow smoking in the rooms adjoining the Radcliffe Science Library was lost.

Curiously enough, Abyssinia was the scene of the last great victory won by the anti-nicotine. The Napoleon who gained this Aus-terlitz was the Emperor Menelik.

One day after dinner he smoked a pipe. The consequences were disastrous for his dinner. Menelik thereupon issued a proclamation forbidding his subjects to smoke.

PETERBOROUGH

REPULSE MODEL'S
"CRUISE"MEDAL FOR NAVAL VETERAN

Portland.

A model of the battle-cruiser Repulse will visit Swanage on July 22 and Weymouth and Dorchester on the following day, in connection with Navy Week.
Axminster, Lyme Regis, and Seaton will be visited the next day. Lieut. C. B. French, of H.M.S. Vernon, will be in charge of the model.

H.M.S. Torrid, which was formerly in the First Anti-Submarine Flotilla at Portland, and which has been serving at Alexandria since last autumn, is to rejoin the Flotilla at Portland shortly. She will be under the command of Com. C. G. N. Graham, who hitherto has been in command of the Colombo in the Nile Reserve.

Upon his retirement after 42 years' service in the Navy and H.M. Dockyards, Mr. George Bull, of Weymouth, has been presented with the Imperial Service Medal.

In making the presentation, Capt. E. B. Cloete, Captain-in-Charge Portland Dockyard, thanked him for his faithful service on behalf of the King, and congratulated him. Mr. Bull joined the Navy at the age of 18, when he entered the training ship Boscauden at Portland. After nine years in the Navy he had an accident, and was invalided out of the Service. He served during the war and subsequently returned to the Dockyard service.

The ashes of Col. C. Saunders, one-time commanding officer of the Dorset Regt., of Weymouth, were scattered on Weymouth Bay.
Col. Saunders was a prominent member of Weymouth and Castle Cove Sailing Club, and about 30 sailing craft of both clubs sailed out in the bay and anchored in the form of a V. At noon, Mr.
A.D. Hownam-Meek, a personal friend of Col. Saunders, scattered the ashes. All crews standing bareheaded. Floral tributes were cast into the sea before the escort dispersed.

DON'T RISK CAKE FAILURES Bake with Royal—and you can be sure of delicious cake like this

EVER stop to think how much depends on the 2 or 3 teaspoonfuls of baking powder you measure into your cake?

Such a small quantity—yet what a difference it can make. For a baking powder failure can mean the complete waste of all your other ingredients.

It doesn't pay to take chances. Especially when Royal Baking Powder costs so little. And remember, this high-quality baking powder is always uniform, always reliable. With Royal you can easily make light, tender, delicious cakes every time you bake.

Delight your friends with this tempting CARAMEL PECAN LOAF. Crown 14 cup shortening; add 1 1/2 cups sugar slowly, beating in well. Add 3 unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating in well after each addition. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla extract. Sift together 2 1/2 cups pastry flour, 2 1/2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt and add alternately with 3/4 cup milk to first mixture. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven at 350° F. about one hour. When cold, cover top and sides with Caramel Frosting (see page 13 of the Royal Cook Book). Garnish with pecan nut meats.

GERMANY'S EXPENSES

For Military Preparations

London, July 20. Mr. Churchill asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer in the House of Commons if he was aware of the expenditure by Germany on military purposes directly and indirectly connected with military preparations. Mr. Churchill said that the Government had no official figures, but from information they had, he saw no reason to think the figure mentioned by Mr. Churchill was necessarily excessive as applied to either year, although there were elements of conjecture.

which might have amounted to eight hundred million pounds during 1935, and whether this rate of expenditure seemed to be continuing. Mr. Neville Chamberlain replied that the Government had no official figures, but from information they had, he saw no reason to think the figure mentioned by Mr. Churchill was necessarily excessive as applied to either year, although there were elements of conjecture.

NO CASE TO ANSWER

ALLEGED THEFT OF WALLET

Wong Chau, 30, a licensed rickshaw coolie, was summoned before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court yesterday charged with the larceny from the person of Mr. Ding William Van Lek, living at "Courtland," Kennedy Road, of a pocket wallet containing $30 (H.K.) 50 Guilders, one letter of credit for $550 (U.S. currency) and one passport.

Mr. D'Almada Remedios appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty.

Det-Sergt. Guld stated that at 3 a.m. on Sunday morning the complainant took a rickshaw from the Hong Kong Hotel to the bottom of Garden Road. It was raining at the time. In alighting at the bottom of the road, the coolie lifted the hood to aid the passenger. While the complainant was getting out of the rickshaw, the complainant said that he was helped by the coolie and felt a tug at his pocket. No notice was taken of it at the time. Later, the complainant discovered the loss of his wallet. A report was made. The coolie was arrested but denied the larceny. The wallet had not been recovered.

Complainant went into the box and stated that the last time he saw his wallet was at 5 p.m. that evening. He had no cause to take money out but nevertheless he knew that the wallet was there.

Mr. Remedios submitted that there was no case to answer. There had been no evidence to show that the wallet was there when the complainant entered the rickshaw. The last time that the complainant had seen the wallet was at 5 p.m.

Defendant was discharged.

KIDNAPPED CHILD RESTORED

PURCHASER TRACED

Child kidnapping between Canton and Hong Kong was revealed by a Secretariat for Chinese Affairs' prosecutor, at the Kowloon Magistrate's yesterday when two women, were charged before Mr. E. H. H. with taking part in a transaction relating to a child five years of age, for a valuable consideration.

The child, Nam Chi was stated to be the daughter of a woman residing in Canton, who was kidnapped and then brought to Hong Kong for sale. As a result of the action taken by the S.C.A., there was a happy reunion of mother and child.

The accused were: Ng Mut, alias Wong Ng Shi, 50, widow of No. 1184, Canton Road, first floor, and Li Chan, 41, widow of No. 24, Kwelin Street, first floor. The charge also alleged transference of "possession, custody and control" of the child.

Inspector E. J. Ellis, of the S.C.A., stated that the child was kidnapped in Canton. The mother, Au Chuk, 39 years of age, received advice that the girl was in the Colony. She came to Hong Kong and saw her daughter with first defendant. The latter claimed that she bought the girl, from a man who stated he was the father. This man, the prosecution believed to be the kidnapper. The second defendant acted as a go-between in the transaction. Both accused were fined $500 or in default, sentenced to nine months' imprisonment.

CRUELTY TO A CHILD

KEPT WOMAN IS SENT TO GAOL

Charged with cruelty to a minor, Shum Nui, aged 8, on dates prior to July 19, in that she ill-treated and neglected, to cause unnecessary suffering and injury to health, Leung Lo, 23, a kept woman, living at No. 165, Gloucester Road, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court yesterday and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Inspector A. E. Carey said that the child was brought to the station by a Shopkeeper in Gloucester Road. The child was naked and complained of being beaten, chased on to the roof and then into the street. A detective was sent to the house but there was no one there. He waited for a couple of hours and when the defendant returned she was arrested.

A medical examination was made of the child and the doctor's report was that the child was aged 5 and undeveloped.

Inspector Carey said that he understood that the child was the defendant's own child, but the defendant being a kept woman, it appeared as though the child was unwanted.

The child had complained of having no food for one and a half days. This the defendant denied saying that the girl stole money to buy food. His Worship remarked that for a child to steal money to buy food must mean that she was starving.

THE MARIE CURIE HOSPITAL

DR. LANG'S TRIBUTE

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 1.

The Archbishop of Canterbury presided yesterday at a drawing-room meeting at Lambeth Palace held in support of the Marie Curie Hospital. In welcoming those who attended the meeting, he said that he had invited them to Lambeth Palace because they all felt a deep and continuing concern for the persistent ravages of the terrible scourge of cancer. Its causes were still very uncertain, but since that patient, humble, and brilliant woman, Marie Curie, discovered the powers of radium, there was at least some prospect of successful treatment. She opened a light of hope on the darkness, and the devoted women whom they were now being asked to help were following her path.

Sir James Jeans said that every year between 45,000 and 50,000 people in this country died from cancer. A small hospital treating them, one by one, could do practically nothing, but if the cases were regarded as scientific material for accumulating knowledge then something could be done. At the Marie Curie Hospital every case was an experiment from which they got exact knowledge. Although they had no right to hope that within a short time a cure for cancer would be found, nor a means of preventing cancer, yet they had every right to hope that an understanding of cancer was on the direct road ahead, along which science was marching. When that time came, the thing that would be really essential for further progress would be just the kind of information that was being compiled at the Marie Curie Hospital.

Mr. Philip Guedala said that the hospital was doing a work of great value to humanity. It had helped towards the performance of something that was, to the eyes of the layman, little less than a miracle, and in some cases it was performing that miracle. Mrs. Walter Runciman, chairman of the board of management, said that although the Marie Curie Hospital was only a small hospital with 39 beds, the treatment was short and in the course of a year they could treat over 800 cases. They were building a pathological laboratory to increase the possibilities of research. They were very grateful to the Archbishop of Canterbury for allowing them to hold the meeting in Lambeth Palace, and they were also grateful to Sir James Jeans not only for his speech but also for an X-ray apparatus which he had recently given to the hospital.

The old lady rapped on the window of the tiny station booking-office.
 "I want a ticket for Florence," she announced.
 After vainly hunting through several large railway guides the clerk came back to the window with a somewhat ruffled head and temper.
 "And where is Florence, anyway?" he demanded.
 "That's her, the little dog sitting over there with the luggage," answered the old lady sweetly.

FASHIONS TO BE FILMED IN COLOUR
 LONDON DRESS
 EXPERT SOUGHT

Mr. Walter Wanger a Hollywood film producer, arrived in London recently, and made the unusual statement that he does not intend to make films in England.
 "I am sorry to be different from others," he said with a smile, "but I have no plans to make pictures here yet."

One of his next productions would star Sylvia Sydney, the American actress, and Charles Boyer, the French Hollywood actor, in Emily Bronte's "Wuthering Heights." He does not think their accents will militate against the success of the picture.

COLOUR PLANS
 Colour in films was inevitable, said Mr. Wanger. He produced "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" in colour.

He plans to make a fashion film, "Vogues of 1937," in colour, engaging a famous London dress-expert to design the costumes.

He will also make "The Arabian Nights" in colour.

"In four years time there will be no black and white pictures," he said. "If it were not for certain problems of cost, time, and shortage of equipment, I would make all my films this year, in colour."

"There will come to be many types of colour films. Some will be full of brilliant colours and others will be done in pastel shades, according to the subject."

"Just as talk brought dialogue writers to Hollywood so there will be an influx of artists when colour becomes general."

Mr. Wanger was the first man to show films for a season at the Covent Garden Opera House several years ago.

George Bancroft, Lionel Stander, Douglas Dumbrille and many others.

The picture that really started Waburn was "Broadway Bill." Since then he has made 11 more films, and will shortly be seen in Grace Moore's forthcoming musical romance, "The King Steps Out."

Born in Plymouth, Indiana, Waburn made his stage debut at the age of 12 in "Soldiers of Fortune," the place was Oakland, California. Six years later he made his first Broadway appearance in "The Greyhound."

"FURY"

A new romantic team of unusual appeal is introduced in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Fury," now showing at the King's Theatre. The co-starring leads are Sylvia Sydney and Spencer Tracy, and their acting in many of the difficult scenes of this powerful screen play approaches new heights.

The story, prepared for the screen by Lang and Barlett Cormack from an original by Norman Krasna, is a hard-hitting depiction of group lawlessness in America. Tracy and Miss Sydney are a typical American couple planning to marry. He is arrested as a suspect in a community where a kidnapping has just occurred, and circumstantial evidence blackens his case. Rumours spread, and troublemakers in the town stir up a demonstration that ends in a furious attack on the prison in which Tracy is being held.

The mob, in a frenzy when baffled in its efforts to drag out the innocent victim, fires the prison. But fate takes a hand and, guided by the vengeful spirit of Tracy and his two younger brothers, relentlessly pursues the men and women responsible for the murder on carefully concocted evidence. Twenty are convicted!

The denouement in the courtroom achieves an emotional tension seldom equalled in motion pictures. It leaves you literally on the edge of your seat up to the fadeout.

An excellent supporting cast is headed by Frank Albertson and George Walcott, as Tracy's brothers; Walter Abel, as the eustret attorney; Bruce Cabot, as the leader of the mob; Walter Brennan, as a small-town deputy; Edward Ellis, as the sheriff, and others too numerous to mention in smaller roles.

"Fury" is strong fare, strongly presented. It is a challenge to every right-thinking adult in America, not as a preaching, for it is stated with complete objectivity, but as gripping real life drama that recurs constantly on the front page of the nation's papers!

MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN

Imagine going for a fishing trip and winding up as a movie actor! It happened to Raymond Walburn, who, before embarking for California, where he intended to pursue with the enthusiasm peculiar to the sport, his insatiable hobby for fishing, was a popular stage actor with a long line of Broadway successes to his credit. The thought of a screen career had no serious place in his mind. What he wanted to do was catch a few of the sea monsters that William Farnum, John Barrymore and a few of the older sportsmen of the film colony had been publicized as snaring.

Columbia signed him to a contract before he had time to unpack his tackle, and at this writing he still hasn't had a chance to do any of the fishing he originally went to California for. At present he is playing a featured role in support of Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur in Columbia's new Frank Capra production, "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," coming soon to the Alhambra Theatre, in company with "The Greyhound."

NEWS FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

RALPH MORGAN'S AMBITION

Ralph Morgan's greatest ambition is to act in the same picture with his brother, Frank Morgan. Ralph Morgan revealed his secret desire following a visit by his brother, Frank, to the stage of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's SPEED, in which Ralph is appearing with Wendy Barrie, James Stewart, and Weldon Heyburn.

"Strangely," said Ralph, "Frank and I have not worked together in the same picture since we came to Hollywood. The only other time we faced each other professionally was years ago on Broadway, when we played in HER CARDBOARD LOVER."

"Even though I know Frank will 'steal the picture' from me, an opportunity for us to appear together in the same film would be my greatest satisfaction."

TURNED ACTRESS BY CHANCE

Anita Loos, screen writer and author of GENTLEMEN PREFER BLONDES turned actress by accident, when she went to watch the big earthquake scene in M-G-M's SAN FRANCISCO, for which she wrote the screen play. Director W.S. Van Dyke directed "extras" to register panic, told several men to pick up women and carry them out of the shaking cafe set—and an "extra" in the excitement picked up the diminutive playwright and carried her out through the crowd.

MARGO FOR "LOST HORIZON"

Margo, beautiful young Mexican stage and screen actress, who has just completed a successful engagement in the N. York stage production "Winteret," was engaged by Columbia Pictures for the important role of "Marie" in "Lost Horizon," the Frank Capra production in which Ronald Colman is starred.

Margo made her screen debut in Hecht and MacArthur's picture "Crime Without Passion" in which she achieved an outstanding personal triumph. Later she was signed by Paramount and was featured in "Rumba" and "Robin Hood El Dorado."

BING WINS COLUMBIA LONG-TERM

Herman Bing, who has fussed and sputtered his apoplectic way through many brief scenes to walk away with the entire picture, has been placed under a long-term contract by Columbia. Bing's outstanding comedy performance in the new Grace Moore starring picture "The King Steps Out" is directly responsible for his being placed under Columbia banner for some time to come.

Mr. Bing has had a long and successful career in pictures. He established his reputation as a comedian many years ago, and has a large following among cinema fans. Since the start of the present season he has appeared in nearly a score of productions. Some of the latest of these are, "Thunder in the Night," "Fighting Youth," "Redheads on Parade," "His Family Tree," "Three Kids and a Queen," "Hands Across the Table" and "A Minute."

NEW COLUMBIA FEATURE

Three of Columbia's featured contract players, Leo Carrillo, Marian Marsh and George Bancroft, were assigned to a new picture entitled "I Promised To Pay," which will be placed in production soon. The story is by Lionel Houser and is an expose of the usurious pawn-brokers' racket.

Mr. Carrillo, one of the screen's most popular leading men, had prominent roles in Columbia's "Love Me Forever" and "If You Could Only Cook." Miss Marsh was featured in the company's "Crime and Punishment" and "Lady of Secrets," while George Bancroft's latest important part is as the managing editor in the Frank Capra production, "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town."

BLINKETY-BLINK

Margot Grahame ruined several scenes in a movie yesterday just because she couldn't keep her eyes open and it wasn't that she was sleepy.

Now filming in the Columbia picture, "Counterfeit," with Chester Morris, Marian Marsh, Lloyd Nolan and others, Miss Grahame was making a scene in which she was required to fire a revolver. It was a new experience for the actress and it developed that every time she pulled the trigger, she closed her eyes tightly in anticipation of the sound of the explosion.

MARY ASTOR WITH COLUMBIA

Mary Astor, one of the screen's most popular leading women, who was seen recently as the feminine lead in Columbia's "And So They Were Married" and who plays the leading role in "Trapped by Television," shortly to be released, was placed under long-term contract by the company. Miss Astor had previously been signed under a three picture agreement. The new contract will give Columbia an option on the services of the star for a number of years, on the present basis of three pictures a year.

Miss Astor has been starred and featured by all the big producing companies and has many personal triumphs to her credit. Some of her latest pictures include, "Red Hot Tires," "I Am A Thief," "Straight From The Heart," "Dinky," "Page Miss Glory" and "Man of Iron."

FILM OFFER FOR LORD WARWICK

TO START £100 A WEEK

By IAN COSTER

Mervyn Le Roy, producer for Warner Brothers, has now seen screen tests made of the Earl of Warwick in London, and, I understand, a definite offer has been made to him.

The terms of the offer are that he should receive £100 a week for the first 20 weeks, and there is an option for a further 20 weeks at the same figure, followed by a five-year contract rising each year at the rate of £50 a week.

Tests have evidently been very successful, and Hollywood wants Lord Warwick to be a film star. He is considering the offer.

CARLES "SWENSON"

ROBBERS ARE SENT TO GAOL

PIRACY RECALLED

The second day of the Criminal Sessions began yesterday with five Chinese, charged with piracy in British waters. They were all found guilty and sentenced to seven years with hard labour by the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor.

The accused were Tsang Yau, 30, Li Choi, 29, Chan Fat, 30, Lai Ping alias Wong Kam, 31, and Chan Chuen, 21.

An armed robbery occurred on an unlicensed junk off Tung Lung Island on May 31, 1936, and the accused pleaded "not guilty" to the charge.

The jury impanelled consisted of—Messrs. G. A. V. Hall (foreman), Wong Hok Yan, F. A. Broadbridge, G. S. Chambers, L. Landau, H. Dollah, G. A. Gutierrez.

Chul Tam Tsing, master of the pirated junk, came to Hong Kong with a cargo of pigs. He was leaving with another cargo on his return trip to Hot Fung with his crew of three when, about noon on May 31, he arrived off Tung Lung Island, which is not far from Shaikwan. The occupants of a sampan halted them, and asked for tobacco and matches. They were then boarded by four men, brandishing revolvers and a knife. They were ordered to keep quiet, and not to make any resistance, and then tied up.

Three of the pirates remained on the junk to row her to Tung Lung Island, and three rowed the sampan away. After making the junk fast, merchandise to the extent of 5 cases of kerosene, 10 cases of matches, 4 bags of sugar and a few articles of clothing and odds and ends were taken off her. The crew were forced ashore and tied together with a long piece of rope anchored to a rock.

STRIPPED

They managed to free themselves after some considerable difficulty, and upon returning to the junk found that she was helpless: the rudder, the sail, and two oars had been stolen. They managed, somehow, to secure a tow to Kung Nam, which was not far away, and the next day was fortunate enough to be towed to Shamshui.

The master observed the pirates' sampan moored at Shaikwan, and upon arrival at Shamshui, went, in the company with two others, to Shaikwan, where the matter was reported to the police. There were four men eating beside this sampan, and they were arrested by the Chinese constable with them. When searched, there were found incriminating evidences against these men. This was on June 1.

On June 8, two more were arrested on information, and the fifth was arrested on June 8, on information.

The master and his crew gave evidence against the accused, as did Mr. G. S. Wilson, A.S.P. (K) and Det-Sergt. A. Kinneir, of the Water Police.

NO WITNESSES

Tsang Yau, the first accused, preferred to make his defence from the witness box, and so did the fifth, Chan Chuen. They had no witnesses to corroborate their statements that they were otherwise employed on May 31, and the coincidences of the possession of the incriminating evidence on the person of the first accused did not seem justified.

All the defendants said that they were falsely accused.

In his summing up to the jury, the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, said that they, the jury, had to be satisfied of two things. Firstly, that there had been an unlawful and violent attack on a junk on May 31, within the Colony's waters. Secondly, that among those who took part in that felonious attack were all or one, or other, of the accused.

That the robbery occurred, in broad daylight, enabled the accusers to identify the assailants the more readily. Each one of the defendants had, been identified without hesitation, with the exception of the fourth, accused, and the identifications had been conducted independently and with fairness. However, the second accused had been identified by the master of the junk with some hesitation.

Upon their return from deliberation, the jury told His Lordship that they were not sure whether the second accused had been properly identified by the witnesses. They were reminded by the Chief Justice that the master of the junk had said that there were four men at the time of the first arrest. He recognised

ONE FATALITY REPORTED

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Weekly Return

In the Colony of Hong Kong including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, the 18th instant, there were altogether 54 traffic accidents, as the result of which one person was killed and 28 persons were injured.

The person killed, a Chinese male, aged 19 years, ran across the street in front of a moving motor lorry and was fatally injured.

Of the persons injured, 10 were pedestrians who were either walking or running across the road and were struck by vehicles.

Three bus passengers and one tram car passenger were injured while alighting from moving motor buses and a moving tram car respectively.

One private motor car driver was injured when his vehicle collided with a tramway standard.

One bus passenger was injured when the vehicle was suddenly stopped.

Three vehicle drivers and three passengers were injured as the result of collisions between vehicles.

Of the 54 accidents, 20 were collisions between vehicles; 21 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 13 accidents were due to other causes.

IMPLICATION DENIED

Fugitive Cross Examined

Yu Lap-fui alias, Li Chai-hon, alias Li Shek-you, the defendant in the extradition proceeding in connection with the attempted assassination of Mr. T. V. Soong and the murder of Mr. Tang Y. Lo, Secretary to Mr. Soong, the then Finance Minister of China, was subjected to cross-examination yesterday before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court by Mr. D.L. Strellett, conducting the case for the prosecution.

Mr. Peter H. Sin represents the defendant.

The alleged offence took place in the North Railway Station, Shanghai on July 23, 1931. The case for the Crown was that the defendant with five others shot at T. V. Soong at the North Station, and instead killed their intended victim's secretary who was walking by the latter's side during one of his visits to Shanghai. Defendant was seen to fire the first shot in the shooting affray which took place in the station and immediately after that, the secretary Tong, dropped to the ground and later succumbed to his injuries.

Yesterday Mr. Strellett read out to the defendant an extract from a Police report which issued by the Woosung and Shanghai Garrison in March 1934, in which a man named Li Kai, in connection with the attempted assassination of Mr. Soong, admitted that he took part in the attempt at the command of Wong Ah Chui, Kung Chung Po and Yu Lap-fui.

Another extract from a report made when a man named Lau Kong was arrested in 1934 wherein Lau also gave the names of Wong Ah Chui, Kung Chung Po and Yu Lap-fui, as those who had asked him to make bombs.

Both the accusations of these extracts were denied by the defendant, who went on to say that he was in Canton on July 23, 1931 and it was there that he read in the newspaper of the attempted assassination of Mr. Soong. Defendant had no idea who were connected with the attempt.

After further cross-examination, the case was adjourned.

the first accused as being on the junk and the second as being on the sampan.

Thereupon, the jury brought in their unanimous verdicts of guilty against the first, fourth and fifth defendants. The verdict of guilty was brought against the second accused by a vote of 5-2, and the third defendant was found guilty by the vote of 6-1.

Before he sentenced the defendants, the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor, said that the jury had found them guilty of a very serious offence. That sort of crime in the Colony had to be put down by every means possible. He said that he was unable to distinguish the part played by any one of them, and that he must have regard to the fact that when the junk was stopped, the men were armed. He then imposed the sentence of seven years with hard labour.

OPIUM ON THE "YUEN SANG"

ONE CONVICTION REGISTERED

Six employees of the s.s. Yuen Sang, were charged before Mr. J. H. B. Lee at the Central Court yesterday with the possession of 2,000 taels of prepared opium on board the s.s. Yuen Sang on June 24, and possession of 900 taels of raw opium.

The defendants were Chan Pul, 48, a stoker, Ho Shum, 38, stoker, Wong Hoi, 58, oiler, Chu Chi, 34, stoker, Li Yu, 29, stoker and Ng Sik, 31, stoker.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for the first and fourth defendants, Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ appeared for the fifth defendant. Mr. Silva pleaded guilty on behalf of the fourth defendant, who though he had dealt the charges in his previous statements, now pleaded not guilty. All the other defendants pleaded not guilty.

R. O. Grimmett, for the prosecution said that at 10 a.m. on June 24, R. O. Ward and a party went on board the s.s. Yuen Sang and searched the stokehold and the port bilge tank which contained the opium. The engineer was called down and asked to open the bilge tank. He said that it was empty but when opened it was found to contain 50 tons of water.

When the Engineer went ashore the ship was on an even keel, but when he returned the ship had a list to port which was accounted for by the water.

All the stokers of the middle watch were collected. The middle watch being the time during which the tank must have been filled, and taken to the Revenue Office. At the office the first defendant took the revenue officer back to the ship and pointed out Chan Chu and Li Yu.

At the office they all blamed each other and so they were all charged.

The present pleas were accepted by R. O. Grimmett, who said that there was no evidence, except that the bilge tank was filled during the middle watch.

Mr. Silva pleading for Chu Chi said that he was a fireman and earned a salary of $29 per month.

The Rotary Club

Speaking at yesterday's weekly meeting of the Hong Kong Rotary Club held at the Hong Kong Hotel Roof Garden, Rotarian J. R. Paton described the second episode of his recent journey through Indo-China with an interesting talk on the subject, "The Mandarin Road." The speaker dwelt on the beauties of Angkor, and advised members to visit the place especially when the moon is full.

The President, Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam, on behalf of the Club, welcomed seven new members. They were Engineer Capt. A. K. Dibley, R. N., Commander A. R. Thatcher, R. N., Dr. H. Talbot, Messrs. M. A. Johnson, Lam Ming Fan, T. Katsunuma and F. Peterson.

BEAUTIES OF ANGKOR

Guests introduced included M. J. Leurgan, Consul General for France, M. Renner, Vice-Consul for France, Rotarian Johan Wulfsberg, of Hankow, Mr. J. M. Dalgarno (Aberdeen), Mr. W. A. Staley (Hong Kong), Mr. T. B. M. Conolly and Rotarian Dr. Yan To Tsang, both of Canton.

The President said that members would be sorry to learn that Rotarian A. H. Veltman, formerly Secretary of the Amoy Rotary Club, was leaving the Colony for good. He had not been with the local Rotary Club for very long and they wished him a bright future.

Rotarian Veltman: I thank you for your very kind words. I would like to express my best wishes for the future of the members and the future of this Club. Now that I am on my feet I feel I have a confession to make. I have long ago been asked by the President of the Amoy Rotary Club who is also President of the Amoy University to hand over to you as a mark of friendship and goodwill the flag of the Amoy Rotary Club. I do so now for it is the last opportunity I have. (Applause).

The President expressed thanks for the gift and added that although it was somewhat belated it was none the less very welcome. Rotarian Dr. Yan To Tsang, of the Canton Rotary Club, said he brought greetings from his club and reminded Rotarians that the Canton Rotarians now meet on Wednesdays instead of Tuesdays thus enabling more members from Hong Kong to attend their meetings. (Applause).

Rotarian Wulfsberg, Vice-President of the Hankow Rotary Club, also brought greetings and mentioned that the Hankow Rotary Club recently had a visit from Rotarian L. Forster and they promised to return the call. The President, Mr. Wu Tai Chi, was too busy looking after flood prevention work and so the speaker came. "We would welcome you up there," said Rotarian Wulfsberg, "although I warn you that July and August are not months to visit Hankow." (Laughter and Applause).

Introducing the speaker of the day, the President remarked that members would recall Rotarian Paton's jocular account of the first part of his journey in Indo-China. Yesterday's address was the second episode.

THE ADDRESS

Addressing the gathering, Rotarian Paton said:—

I am about to describe to you the second half of the tour of Indo-China made by my wife and myself this spring. The first half I described as "To Angkor by the back door" and in my talk in May told the story of our descent from the north by little known and seldom travelled paths, down the banks of the Mekong river in Laos, across to Cambodia, and stopped short six miles from the main ruins of Angkor.

If I could, I would willingly describe to you the wonders of Angkor but they are to be seen not talked about.

I held no Indo-China bonds or hotel shares but I cannot say too emphatically "You must visit Angkor." If at all possible, try to be there at full moon. I do not think I shall ever forget strolling down the Terrace of the Elephants from which the ancient Emperors of Cambodia reviewed their troops, a thousand years and more ago. Moonlight seems to give this long dead city a semblance of life. By that gentle silver light it is not quite so obvious how cruelly nature has treated the noble piles of masonry.

Our decision to leave Angkor was a sudden one. We had arranged to have a troupe of Cambodian dancing girls give us, on the very steps of the Temple of Angkor Wat itself, an exhibition of the dances which to-day are danced exactly as they were in the 8th century.

It was really the closed season for such dances but we thought we had everything all arranged. However we were not to have that treat, as though the dancers were all for us the musicians were all cornered by some very important personage who was entertaining the Chinese Consul General up from Saigon.

We weren't even able to horn in on the party so we decided to make a dash for Phnom Penh.

She had been stranded at Angkor and was being held up by an unscrupulous Annamite chauffeur when we rescued her.

On the way we saw an amazing number of what looked like ferrets crossing the road, a tame elephant out for his after dinner stroll and once a little black shadow leapt into the glare of our headlights, paused an instant, then sprang into the darkness. It was a leopard.

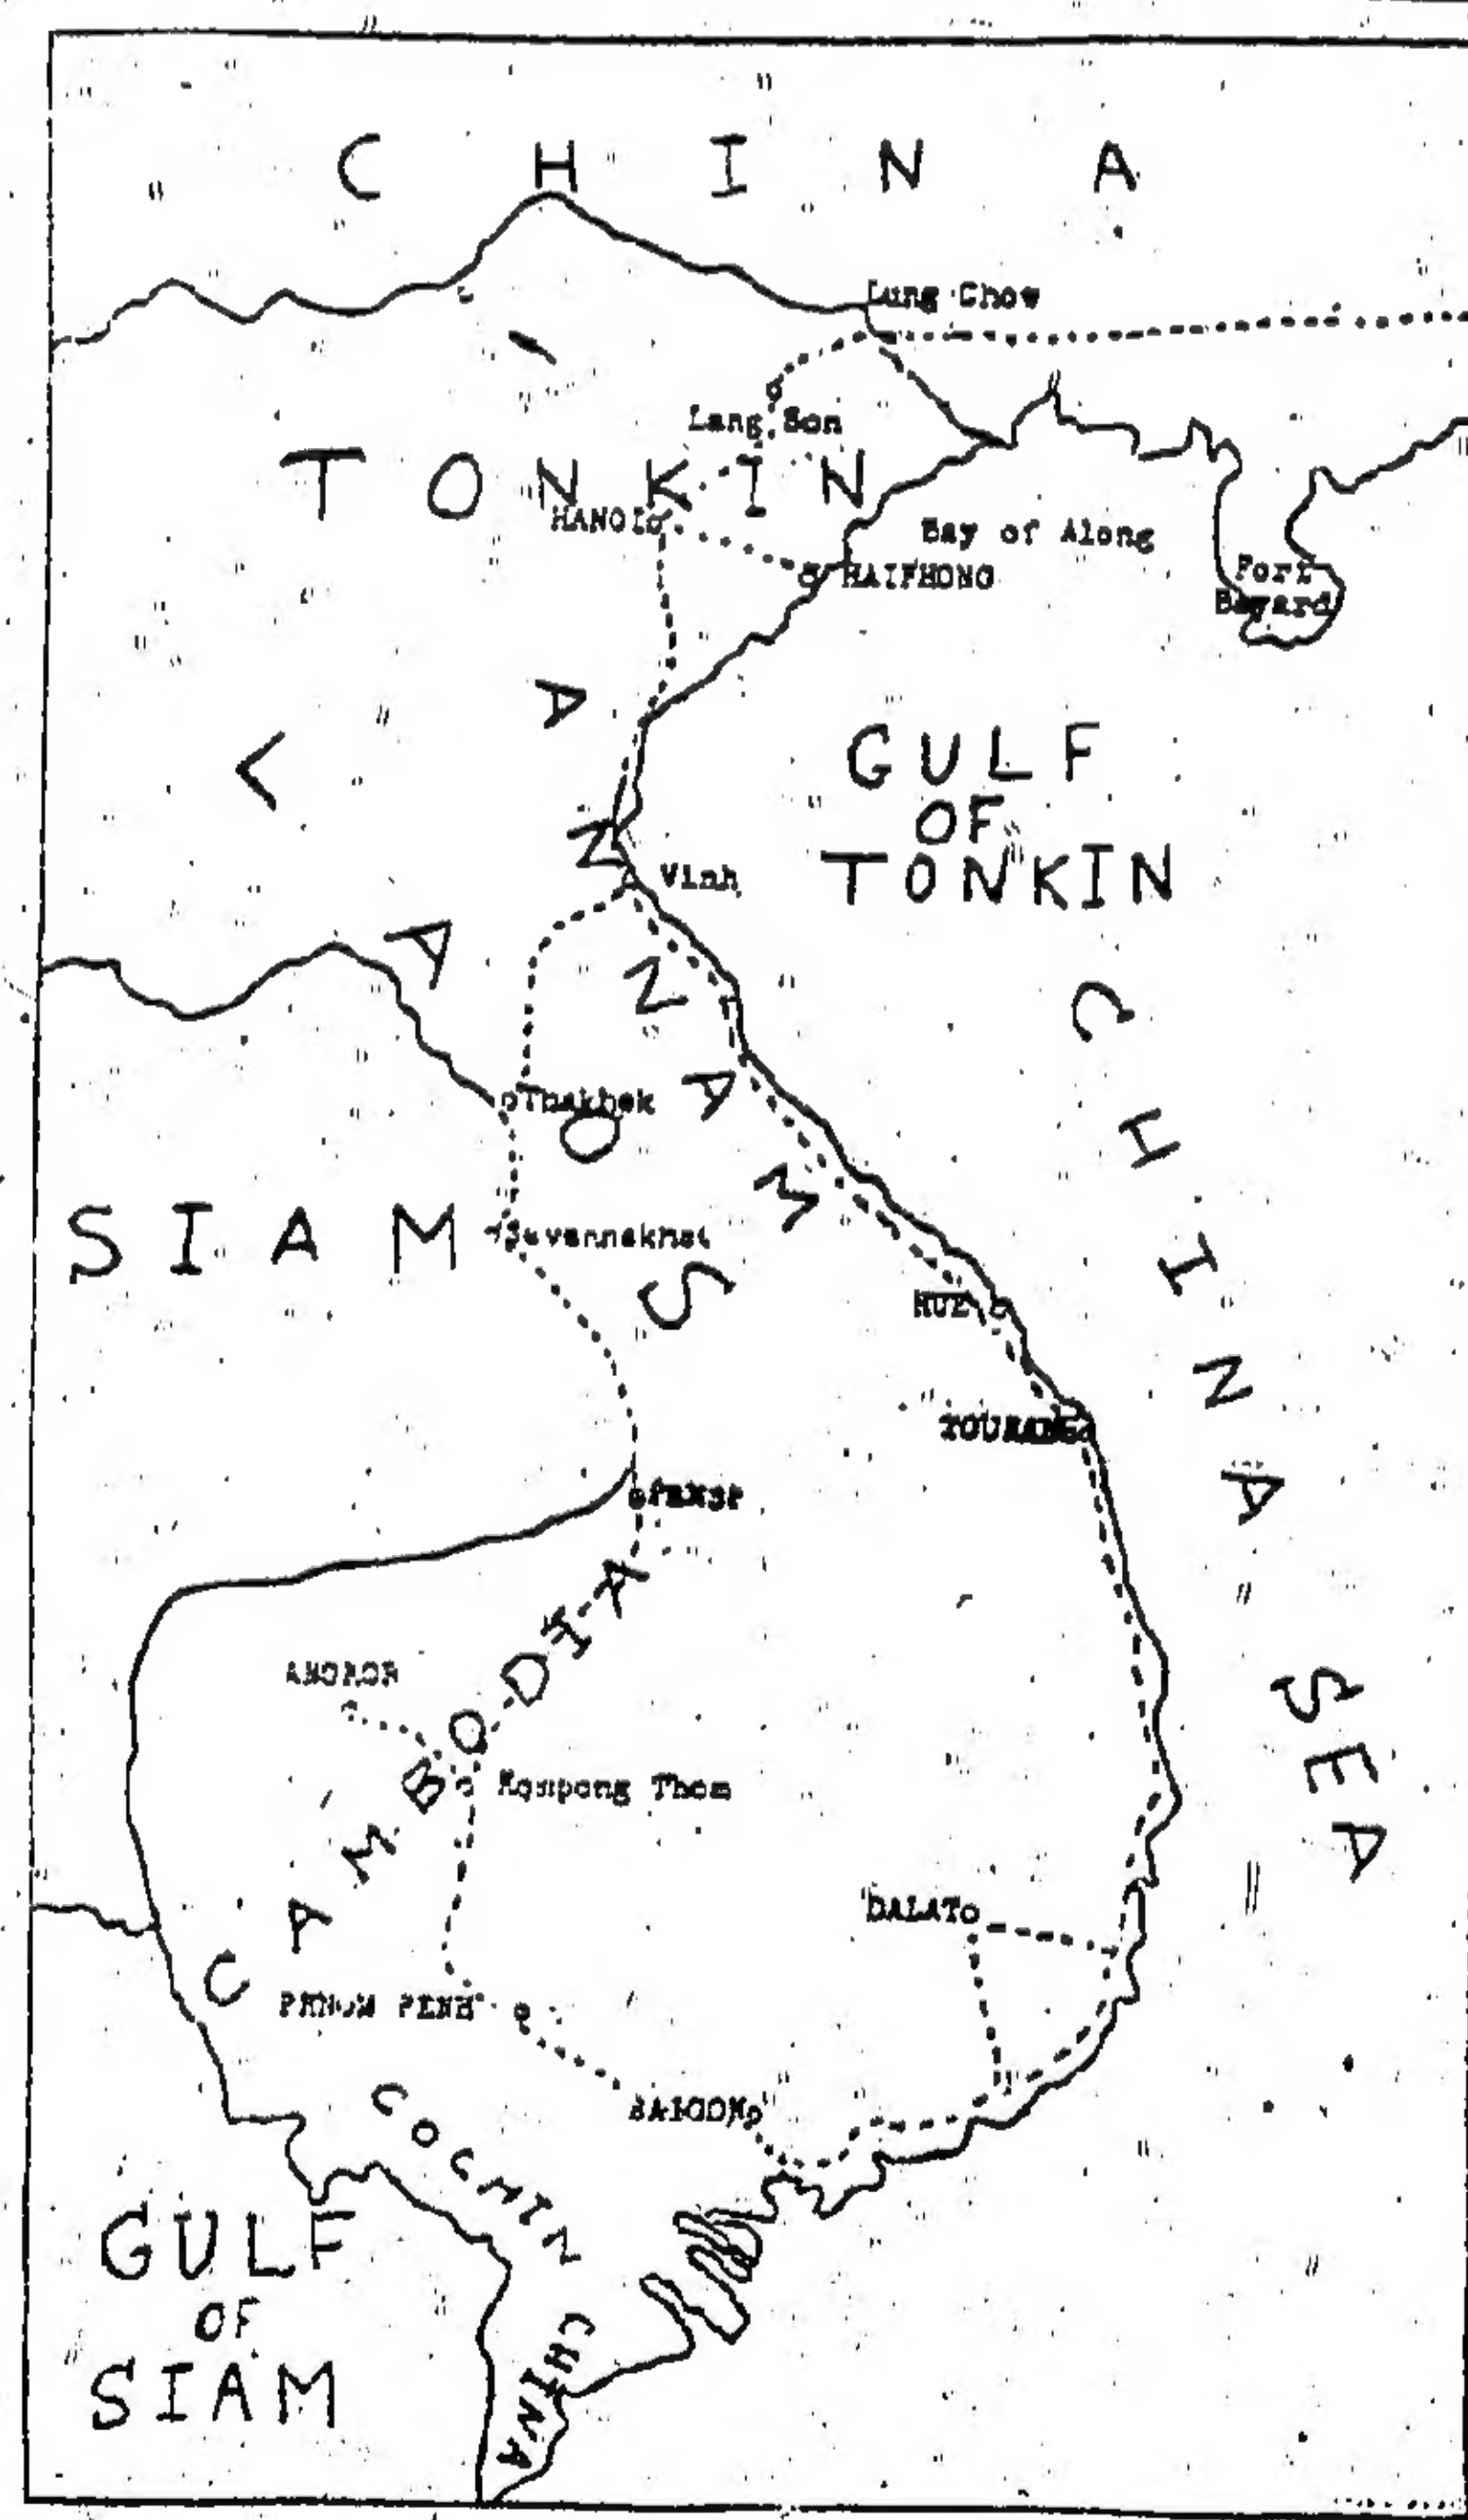

At Khom Pong Thom we stopped for coffee and sandwiches, set off again and arrived in Phnom Penh safely. Phnom Penh is the capital of the kingdom of Cambodia.

Angkor was formerly the capital, in the days when Cambodia included much of Siam and Laos. There is now no great mystery about Angkor. The present Cambodians are direct descendants of the Khmers who were driven out of Angkor by Siamese invaders as late as the XVth century. It was believed, at one time, that a whole civilisation had disappeared from the earth leaving behind it Angkor as a monument. Nothing so drastic happened. The Khmers, or Cambodians, merely left Angkor when it became too hot for them and established their capital in one place after another, till it finally settled in Phnom Penh.

THE HISTORY

In 1372 a lady named Penh lived on a hillock and one day during the rainy season she saw a huge tree floating past. Being of a thrifty turn of mind she called her friends and together they hauled the tree ashore intending to use it as firewood. To her amazement, however, she found, hidden in the trunk, four bronze effigies of Buddha and one of Vishnu.

This was taken as a sign that the Gods themselves were tired of being continually harassed in Angkor and had decided to leave it forever. A shrine was built from the wood of the tree and the

THE TURNING POINT

This was definitely the turning point on our trip. We were now on the homeward leg and every new place we visited was another step back to Hong Kong. Most of this part of our journey was over fairly good roads so when I say we made a dash for Phnom Penh I mean we made a dash for it.

At 5.10 that evening we left Siem-reap for a 200 mile run to Phnom Penh. We had with us a world famous American lady big game hunter who, I understand holds the record for lion shooting in Africa. I am not a hunter myself but I gathered it was something tremendous, like a lion with the left and a snipe with the right. I may be wrong but whatever it was it was a world record!

town which grew up around it and which is now the capital of the country is named after the good lady—Phnom, which in the Cambodian dialect means hillock, Phnom Penh.

It is a delightful little town but after the grandeur and massiveness of Angkor one cannot but think that the Gods must feel rather ashamed of their new home.

The temples and palaces are attractive and pretty but Jim-crack! Cement has taken the place of stone, paint has taken the place of carving and it is obvious that, if the buildings were left unattended for a few years they would fall to pieces and would put up no sort of fight against time and nature.

HOUSE-WARMING PARTY

SUCCESSFUL FUNCTION
HELDA DISTINGUISHED GATHERING

Palatial in its decorations and furnishings, the Haw Par Mansion was the scene of one of the most successful functions of the month at the House-warming party given by Mr. Aw Boon-haw and Mr. Aw Boon-par yesterday.

Guests flocked in endless succession, it being estimated that over one thousand people were present. The brothers, Messrs. Aw, greeted their guests on arrival and offered to all the charming hospitality of the house.

His Excellency, the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott and Lady Caldecott, accompanied by Capt. W. J. R. Cragg, A.D.C., arrived at the mansion and were greeted by the brothers. Mr. Ip Kwal Chung, on behalf of the hosts offered a welcome to His Excellency and said:—

"Your Excellency, Lady Caldecott, on behalf of the brothers, Messrs. Aw, I am authorised to extend to you a hearty welcome and thank you for the honour which you have conferred upon the family by your kind condescension in coming here this afternoon. The same cordiality is extended to all our guests."

His Excellency and Lady Caldecott, were then conducted over the house.

The house presented a fine picture, gaily decorated with flags and "flowers." It is charmingly situated with a fine view. Combining the exquisite decorations of the East with the comforts of the West, it is unique in all detail. It has a beautiful swimming pool, a tennis court, and the most lovely of gardens.

The numerous guests were in the hands of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, who kindly volunteered their services in that capacity. Music was supplied by the Band of the 1st Bn. the Royal Ulster Rifles (by kind permission of Lieut.-Col. R. M. Rodwell and officers) conducted by Mr. H. Alfred Hale.

4,000 MILES OF SUSPENSE

Those who go racing to Johannesburg by air in September will evidently be given every chance to do something spectacular. Few previous races have been so free from the shackles of official control. Once the aeroplanes have left London, officialdom will restrain them only twice before they cross the finishing line at Johannesburg. They must be seen at Vienna, just to make sure that no daring competitor is tempted to take the shortest way from England to Egypt over the greatest length of the Mediterranean. And they must call in at Cairo, mainly to restrain the impetuous from dashing over those parts of the African deserts where they would be least easy to find if misfortune brought them down. At Cairo too those who are competing in the handicap section will make good their time-forfeits. From there to Johannesburg the race will be unsupervised. This promises some 4,000 miles of suspense for competitors and public alike, and should provide an exciting finish. No competitor, tempted after hours of careful course-keeping to come down for a brief rest, may be sure that he has not been passed. No one at Johannesburg, receiving reports of arrivals at this or that point on the mail route through Africa, will feel safe in backing the man who looked like a certain winner when he took on his last load of petrol at, say, Nairobi.

As a sporting event this race, devised with the help of the £10,000 given for prize money by Mr. J. W. Schlesinger, should be

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD
APPOINTMENTS

NEW POSTS CREATED

"Captain Of King's Flight"

London, July 21.
Many changes in the Royal Household are announced in the full list of appointments now officially issued.

The new posts created include "Captain of King's Flight" which is given to Flight-Lieutenant Fielden, aged thirty-three, the first man to pilot a King in England in an aeroplane and private pilot to King Edward since 1929.

For the first time a manipulative Surgeon to the King is appointed in the person of Sir Morton Smart who has often attended members of the Royal Family.

The Earl of Granard, who is succeeded, as Master of King's Horse by the Duke of Beaufort, aged thirty six, one of the most famous riders to hounds, becomes Comptroller at Ascot.

Lord Cromer is reappointed Lord Chamberlain, and the Duke of Sutherland becomes Lord Steward in place of Lord Shaftesbury.

As stated, Major Hardinge will be Private Secretary with Sir Godfrey Thomas as his chief assistant. Major Ulrick Alexander is Keeper of the Privy Purse.

YOLA AND PAUL
TO OBLIGECHARMING PIANIST TO PLAY AGAIN

Yola and Paul, the pair of charming dancers, who made their reappearance last Saturday in the Grill Room of the Hong Kong Hotel, are to give a farewell display of their enchanting dancing next Saturday the 25th July in the Roof Garden Dinner Dance of the Hong Kong Hotel. These popular Artists were well received last week-end and the coming opportunity of witnessing their final performance should not be missed.

A further pleasant surprise was accorded diners last Saturday in the person of Miss Helen O'Brien at the piano, a very charming pianist who records exclusively for Columbia. Miss O'Brien has very kindly consented to play again this coming Saturday in the Roof Garden during the Dinner Dance.

This additional attraction should be most welcome to patrons of the Hong Kong Hotel.

attractive. The trouble is that so few sporting pilots have sufficient funds to provide themselves with aeroplanes fit for such a competition. The prize of £4,000 for the fastest time is hardly enough to cover the cost of an aeroplane in which a good pilot might reasonably back himself for that amount to win. Most of the emphasis has been put on the handicaps, which might bring victory to an aeroplane of only moderate speed but of high qualities in pay-load and economical operation. That is to say, the laurels may go to the sporting pilot who goes out to win in record time with an aeroplane of quite limited commercial application, but the bulk of the money will go to the entrants of useful aeroplanes and will help along the successful commercial designer and constructor. The aircraft firms in this case may therefore feel disposed to give the race their blessing and deserving pilots their help. A proposal to buy back from the Air Ministry the Comet, which won the race to Melbourne, and enter it in this race has been made. A still more interesting proposal to buy the twin-engined Bristol air liner, which served as a model for the fastest bomber, has also been mooted. With these two aeroplanes the race would become a most exciting affair, and the hope that the winner's time may not be more than two days' night be confidently indulged.

JAPANESE MISSION FOR CHINAPARTIES ALSO TO VISIT
BRITAIN, U.S.A.

Tokyo, July 15.
A decision to dispatch an economic mission to China some time this autumn was reached yesterday by the directors of the Japan Economic Federation.

The group will include members of the Sino-Japanese Trade Association and will probably be headed by Mr. K. Kodama, president of the Yokohama Specie Bank.

Two other missions will also be dispatched to Great Britain and the United States. The former will return last year's visit here of a British Mission under Lord Barnby, while the mission to America will reciprocate the visit here of a group headed by Mr. W. Cameron Forbes, former American Ambassador to Japan.

Mr. J. Kodomo, managing director of the Okuragumi Co., has been tentatively selected to head the mission to the United States, while Mr. M. Kishida, managing director of the Mitsubishi Goshi Kaisha, is expected to lead the group visiting London.

Officials of the Federation said that repeated invitations had been received from the United States Chamber of Commerce to send delegates to its annual conference on September 20.

A Chinese mission, headed by Mr. Wu Ting-chang, now Minister of Industry, visited Japan last autumn. The Sino-Japanese Trade Association was organized here as a result of this visit.—(N.C.D.N.)

WOMEN CONVICTED

A raid engineered by R. O. P.J. O'Neill and a party of Revenue Officers was related to Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday when two women stood charged with possession of 61 tablets of raw opium, and 2,000 pills of diacetyl morphine. The accused were Li Yung, 32, married woman of No. 100 Fa Yuen Street, and Leung Ho, 45, widow residing at No. 538 Shanghai Street, second floor.

R.O. O'Neill stated that a raid was carried out on July 13. Li was found in 100 Fa Yuen Street with keys to a large box in her possession. In the box the contraband was discovered. She claimed that "she knew nothing about it" volunteered to take Chinese Revenue Officer No. 62 to Shanghai Street, where they found Leung Ho. The latter said that the stuff belonged to her. "They were doing a business," said the prosecuting officer, "as we found a pair of scales, and a pair of scissors to cut the opium on the premises. Second defendant, I imagine, was the mistress in charge."

In answer to the Bench, R. O. O'Neill said that first defendant appeared to be in charge of the depot in Fa Yuen Street, and was the seller.

"Had she not taken the Chinese Revenue Officer to Shanghai Street, we would not have arrested second defendant," stated R. O. O'Neill. "I am asking for the confiscation of the box and all it contains as the pills were found in it. It was an ordinary opium case. I would not press for confiscation." A bundle was the only thing of value found in the box. This would be returned to the defendants.

Li Yung was fined a total of $800 or in default 6 months' imprisonment on both charges, while Leung Ho, fined $1,200 or nine months on the two offences.

STREETS

Shanghai, July 18.
Measures taken by the Chinese authorities to protect the lives and property of Japanese residents were described in a letter addressed by Mr. Yu Hung-chun, acting Mayor of Greater Shanghai, to Mr. Arata Sugihara, acting Consul-General here.

The letter, quoted in full in local Japanese papers, was dispatched in connection with the thus far fruitless search for the gunman, who on the night of July 10 shot and mortally wounded Mr. Kosaka Kiyau, seafood broker, in Chi Mei Road.

Since Mr. Kayau's murder, the letter said, the Public Safety Bureau has assigned 167 specially trained constables to its North Station branch and sub-branches in the district.

These men, the communication added, have since been patrolling, in plain clothes and uniforms, the district most heavily inhabited by Japanese. Arrangements have also been made to increase the number of police officers, should necessity arise.

Eighteen detectives attached to the North Station branch, the letter continued, have been ordered to patrol North Szechuen, Scott Darroch and Dixwell Roads, where the Japanese population is especially dense.

Four superintendents, the communication went on, have been detailed to the North Station branch to supervise its activities in safeguarding Japanese lives and conducting a search for Mr. Kayau's murderer.

In accordance with a table submitted by the Japanese Consul-General showing the distribution in the city, the North Station branch and its sub-branches have divided their functions between themselves.

Arrangements have also been made, Mr. Yu's letter concluded, to exchange information with the Shanghai Municipal police and the Japanese authorities.—(N.C.D.N.)

STERLING RATE TO BE FIXEDINCOME OF GOVERNMENT
OFFICERS

The following resolutions will be moved by the Hon. Colonial Treasurer at to-day's meeting of the Legislative Council:

1.—Resolved pursuant to section 2 (4) of the Hong Kong Government Service (Levy on Salaries) Ordinance, 1936, that after deduction of the levy, if any, and of the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Contribution, if any, or of either, the remainder of the salaries of all public officers in the Hong Kong Government Service, which are expressed in terms of sterling, whatever their amount, shall be converted at the rate of one shilling and fourpence halfpenny to the dollar for the months of July, August and September, 1936.

2.—Resolved pursuant to section 6 of the Hong Kong Government Service (Levy on Salaries) Ordinance, 1936, that with effect from the 1st day of January, 1936, until the 30th day of September, 1936, both days included, that one sixth of the salary, if expressed in terms of sterling, of every officer of the Hong Kong Government Service, who shall have a wife or a child under the age of twenty-one years dependent on him and resident in a sterling or gold-standard country, shall be exempt (after deduction of the levy, if any, and of the Widows' and Orphans' Pension Contribution, if any, or of either) from the operation of the special conversion rate provided for in section 2 (4) of the said Ordinance during the period in which such wife or child is so resident.

And Resolved further that in the case of such an officer, who has two or more such dependents so resident as aforesaid, the exemption (after the said deduction, if any) shall extend to one third of the salary.

CHINESE PORCELAINGOW COLLECTION ON VIEW IN GLASGOW

(Special Air Mail Service)

Glasgow, June 29.
An exhibition of Chinese porcelain, one of the most important private collections of its kind in the country, was formally opened by Lord Provost John Stewart in the Kelvingrove Art Galleries, Glasgow, to-day.

The collection was the property of the late Mr. Leonard Gow, and it has been made available to the public of Glasgow during the summer months through the courtesy of his trustees. There are 800 exhibits, and the collection is particularly rich in specimens of the K'ang Hsi period (1662-1722), although there are also some fine examples of Ming pieces. Almost all the known shapes and forms of K'ang Hsi porcelain are represented. There are some magnificent examples of the famous K'ang Hsi blue and white, but it is in the "faintly verte" porcelains in which greens of various shades predominate in the colour scheme, that Mr. Gow specialized.

SEVERE STRUGGLES IN SPAIN

Rebels Repulsed In Madrid Battle

CEUTA SHELLED BY CRUISER

British Naval Precautions At Gibraltar

London, July 21. Although the Spanish Government claimed in a broadcast from Madrid last night that the revolt had been completely quelled, conflicting reports this morning indicate that heavy fighting continues in many places and the situation is at least obscure.

It would appear there was a battle in and around Madrid yesterday when the rebels were repulsed, and severe struggles are reported from Cadiz, Saragossa, Cordoba and Seville, where a cruiser is also said to have shelled Ceuta, which is in rebel hands and which replied strongly.

There are a number of British residents and visitors in Spain and the Navy are taking measures to assure their safety.

There are several destroyers centred in Gibraltar. H.M.S. Shamrock is at Malaga and the Keppel and Whitshed at Vigo. H.M.S. Whitehall is at Tangier. Many British visitors to Malaga are reported to have been taken off.

The battleship Repulse at present in Alexandria is to proceed to Gibraltar when it has embarked a battalion of Gordon Highlanders.

Other measures have also been concerted to aid stranded British nationals.

British Wireless.

LATEST REPORTS

London, July 21. The Admiralty states that H.M.S. Repulse is embarking the Gordon Highlanders in Alexandria and returning with troops to Gibraltar.

The warships Keppel and Whitshed are now at Vigo, the Shamrock at Malaga, and Whitehall at Tangier.

Although the strictest censorship still prevails in Spain, the latest messages indicate that the Government now controls most of the principal towns on the mainland, but the rebels still appear to be strongly established in Spanish Morocco and hold some parts of Andalusia and Navarre.

Granada and Burgos are also believed to be still in rebel hands, while Cadiz, Algeciras and Pamplona have not yet surrendered to the Government.

London, July 21. The Spanish Ambassador called on Mr. Eden at the Foreign Office to-day.

Further British warship movements are H.M.S. Witch to Ferrol and Wren to Corunna.

It is learned that the authorities at San Sebastian are facilitating the return of a hundred Britishers to France.—Reuter.

ATTACK ON REBELS

Madrid, July 21. It is announced by wireless that five columns of infantry, storm troops, civil guards, carabinieri and militia are leaving Madrid to attack the last centres of the insurrection. They are going to torpedoes Valladolid, Saragossa and Burgos.—Reuter.

CONTACT ESTABLISHED

London, July 21. The Spanish Ambassador here late last night established direct telephone contact with the Foreign Office at Madrid for the first time in several days and was informed that the Government dominates the situation throughout the country, though fighting continues in Seville, Valencia and Saragossa.

The loyal naval units are preventing the rebel troops from Morocco crossing to Spain.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

Madrid, July 20. While the reports from Spain are so conflicting that it is impossible to gain a picture of the exact state of affairs, the situation in Madrid definitely seemed to favour the Government, the Home Minister having announced that the insurrection is subdued in the Spanish capital; the rebels having surrendered. The Home Minister added that the suppres-

The French paper "Petit Moricain" printed the following declaration of General Molla broadcast in Seville:

"Contrary to the assertions of the Madrid wireless, I have not yielded. I am making up forces which have achieved their first victories and are marching on to others. The troops of Navarre greet fraternally all their comrades in the Peninsula and in Spanish North Africa. Long live Spain."

FALL OF CITY DENIED

London, July 20. It is learned that besides two destroyers at Gibraltar, two cruisers, H.M.S. Cairo and H.M.S. Orion, are standing by at Plymouth, ready to proceed immediately to Spanish ports, if it becomes necessary to evacuate British subjects.

Meanwhile, Gibraltar reports that the British destroyer, Shamrock, is proceeding full speed towards Malaga, which is reported to be still afloat.

The report of the fall of Madrid is stated in Gibraltar to be unfounded. On the contrary, Paris quotes a communique issued by the Spanish Minister of Interior declaring that the seditious movement in Madrid has been quelled, whilst rebels in the provinces are surrendering.

The communique adds that rebel columns in the province of Segovia, north of Madrid, have been bombed by the Air Force, resulting in many casualties being inflicted.—Reuter.

CHINESE LOAN ISSUES

Scheme For Payment Of Lunghais

MARKET FIRM

London, July 21.

It is understood that the Chinese Government has practically completed arrangements for resumption of payment of Lunghais bonds on lines similar to Tientsin-Pukou, though it is believed to be slightly less favourable to the bondholder.

It is expected that a scheme will shortly be submitted to the London Committee recently established to look after bondholders' interests which it is expected to accept.

Paris is reported to be buying Lunghais on a large scale.

A very notable feature to-day is the all-round firmness of Chinese loans. Brokers sum up the general position as "strong buyers in a small market."

CORONATION OF THE KING

Special Commission Appointed

London, July 20.

With the object of recognising the equal interest of the Dominions with the United Kingdom in the Coronation, and harmonising ancient traditions with modern constitutional requirements, the King has appointed a special Coronation Commission.

The Commission will include the Prime Minister and High Commissioners of the Dominions, together with other Dominions representatives, while the United Kingdom will be represented by persons who will act as members of the Coronation Committee of the Privy Council.

The King has appointed the Duke of York as Chairman and the Duke of Norfolk as Deputy Chairman of the Commission, the first meeting of which will be held shortly at St. James' Palace.—Reuter.

RECOVERY IN FRANCE

Finance Minister's Optimism

WARNING TO LAW EVADERS

Paris, July 21.

"Baby Bonds" are being taken up satisfactorily even by the poorer class of people, declared the Finance Minister during an exclusive interview with Reuter.

The Finance Minister declared that the nation was recovering and prosperity was returning to the country. He revealed that purchases in large Paris stores have been increasing in the past fortnight, which activity also helped greatly in placing the bonds.

He also drew attention to the diminution in the bank rate from six to three per cent. and, the carry forward rate on the bourse from seven to three and half per cent. since June 15, while rents were steadily rising and gold was returning to the country.

Referring to the new measures for declaration of holdings abroad, he gave a warning that no mercy will be shown to law evaders after the expiry of the amnesty about August 23.

The Finance Minister asserted that "hope was returning and if, as we believe, economic activity does accelerate, France will definitely be able to make financial recovery."

DAVIS CUP TENNIS

Australia To Meet Great Britain

GERMANY FORFEITS ONE MATCH

London, July 21.

Australia qualified to meet Great Britain in the Challenge Round of the Davis Cup by virtue of her victory over Germany.

With a lead of two matches to one, Australia annexed another singles match when Vivian McGrath beat Heinrich Henkel 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Spectators were greatly disappointed as heavy rain fell at Wimbledon with the result that Baron von Cramm and Jack Crawford could not play their match, which was forfeited to Australia, who won four matches to one.—Reuter.

London, July 21.

The rain suddenly ceased, but von Cramm decided not to play in view of the recurrence of his leg injury. Jack Crawford then gave an exhibition with Denker.

Showing a deplorable lack of knowledge of the rules of the Davis Cup, the Wimbledon officials announced that the match between Crawford and Denker was only an exhibition; but finally it was correctly stated that it counted in the contest.

Crawford won 6-3, 6-1, 6-4. Australia thus winning four matches to one.—Reuter.

STRAITS ZONE REOCCUPATION

Advancing Detachments Welcomed

TURKISH FLEET AT DARDANELLES

Monument To Be Erected At Entrance

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Istanbul, July 21.

Public rejoicings on the occasion of the reoccupation, in the early morning hours of Tuesday, of the demilitarised Straits zone by Turkish troops, in accordance with the new Montreux Convention, lasted the whole night.

In all the villages situated on the roads along the banks of the Bosphorus, the inhabitants enthusiastically greeted the advancing detachments. All the ships in port here are ray with bunting in honour of the historic event.

A minelayer belonging to the Turkish Navy cast off from Istanbul on Tuesday forenoon, and will continue, in the course of a day, her journey to the Black Sea.

The greater part of the Turkish fleet has already arrived at the Dardanelles.—

DIPLOMATIC TRIUMPH

Montreux, July 21.

Japan was the only nation which signed the Straits Convention with reservations. The Japanese delegation informed Turkey that she had to sign in this manner as she was not a member of the League.

After formal occupation of the Straits zone by a Turkish battalion, the officers and men laid wreaths on the war graves including those of British soldiers. To-day was celebrated as a national holiday.

A monument will be erected at the entrance to the Straits as a commemoration of Turkish diplomatic triumph at the Dardanelles conference.—

HISTORIC OCCASION

Montreux, July 20.

The Dardanelles Convention was signed to-day at 10.10 p.m. Bulgaria signed first, and was followed by nine other powers, in alphabetical order. The ceremony took place in a hotel room beautifully decorated with palms and gladioli.

Australia's High Commissioner, Mr. Stanley Bruce, occupied the position of honour and opened the meeting with a short speech, commenting on the historic occasion.

Lord Stanley, Great Britain's delegate, emphasised that the conference had shown that even in these unsettled times international agreement was not impossible.—

NATION REJOICES

Istanbul, July 20.

The signing of the Dardanelles Treaty caused great rejoicing throughout Turkey to-day. The whole country was bedecked in honour of the event.

Two hours after the treaty was signed, troops moved into the demilitarised zones and the Bosphorus. It is probable that Turkey will be satisfied with the re-occupation of the demilitarised zones, as a gesture, and it is unlikely that any money will be spent at present on actual fortification, apart from the mounting of heavy artillery. Fortifications capable of defending the Dardanelles against modern armaments, are estimated to cost a minimum of £200,000,000.—Reuter.

FAR EASTERN SITUATION

Smuggling Question Raised

GOVERNMENT VIEW EXPLAINED

London, July 20.

When members of the House of Lords to-night draw attention to the continued smuggling of Japanese goods into North China to the detriment of China's finances and foreign trade, and to the desirability that Britain approach Japan and endeavour to reach some sort of understanding in this connection, Lord Stanhope, on behalf of the Government, reviewed the whole position.

It was extremely difficult, he said, for China to take action in North China, owing to the reinforcement of the Japanese garrisons. Conditions in that country were most unsettled, with the result that there had been a large increase of smuggling, and that was unfortunate not only for China but for every country trading with her.

He reiterated that it was not the British Government's intention to abandon the Peking Embassy, but to maintain it besides that at Nanking.

The Government's view had been that Britain should endeavour to improve her friendship with Japan, although it did not go so far as to suggest they should reach an agreement, as it was thought it would be difficult to reach an understanding really in accord with British policy in China, namely, "the open door" and freedom of trade for everyone.

UNFORTUNATE INCIDENTS
Commenting upon the closing of Manchukuo's doors to British trade, and the unfortunate incidents of ill-treatment of a British Indian and his wife and the reaction to the trial of the British soldiers in Peking, charged with the killing of a Japanese officer, Lord Stanhope said they had made progress in friendship and towards agreement more difficult. They could not afford to have incidents of that kind if they wished to improve their friendship with Japan and reach an agreement satisfactory to Britain, Japan and China.

Britain's interest was that there should be a strong and stable Chinese Government, and if the Government could manage to obtain Japanese and American support it would not only benefit Britain, America and China, but perhaps Japan most of all, since her trade with China was so vast.

He did not believe the time was ripe to call a conference under the auspices of the League of Nations, as Lord Marley had suggested, the spokesman added.—

MADRID WAR MINISTRY

Interesting Travelogue

unlike the old capital which is stubbornly contesting every inch of the way with the jungle.

I think, perhaps, one should visit Phnom Penh before Angkor then one would escape the feeling of anti-climax which I experienced. The king of Cambodia holds his court here maintaining his stable of royal elephants and his establishment of royal dancers who dance for his edification the same dances as were dancers before his royal forefathers in Angkor.

MARVELLOUS JEWELS

In the Royal Palace part of which is open to the public may be seen the most marvellous jewels and one pagoda has a floor 36 feet by 120 feet of solid silver blocks, half-an-inch thick. It was rather terrifying to a Hong Kong man to stamp about on silver like that and I could not help wondering if, had that temple been here, I would not have been walking around on prettily engraved paper. (Laughter.)

In the Phnom Penh museum there is a wonderful collection of Khmer statues.

One Buddha is still worshipped and, in order to prevent him being touched, the authorities built a little pond or running water round him. The natives now think this water is holy and dip themselves and their offspring in and the Buddha has more devotees than ever. Here we have a first class example of how a legend starts. In another century, I am sure, it will be firmly believed that the Albert Sarraut Museum was built around a holy spring as a dwelling place for this particularly Buddha.

Very attractive beaten silver work comes from this part of the world and two examples, a cigarette case and a beer mug, both I hasten to add are empty, lie on the table here if anyone cares to look at them.

The road from Phnom Penh to Saigon, a distance of 150 miles is not very interesting though the first part contains many pagodas.

SAIGON

Saigon, the Paris of the East, I am sorry to say did not appeal to us at all despite the charming hospitality we received. I nearly said "it left us cold" but that would be very misleading. It was the hottest and steamiest place we struck on our whole trip. We had to spend a few days there for various reasons but decided to get away as soon as possible.

Saigon is impressed on my mind as the place where we found two delightful little tiger kittens playing on the verandah of the friend's house where we were dining. They were grand little fellows very good natured and full of fun with heads and paws several sizes too big for their little striped bodies.

If you remember the first part of our trip you will realise that, by this time, we were rather needing a little rest, so we went down to Cape St. Jacques for a few days. On the way down we had our first and only flat tire on the whole trip which as 3,260 miles by actual speedometer reading.

Cap St. Jacques is a typical middle class, family watering place transplanted into the tropics. As it was Easter, it was crowded and very colourful. Even the people were colourful all shades of French colonial minor officials were to be found and that is saying something.

A GALA NIGHT

On Easter Sunday, there was a Gala dancing night at the hotel. Hundreds of people poured in and were welcomed with open arms which we poor residents were left to find for ourselves. Tables were in theory reserved round the open air dancing floor but in practice it was a case of first come first served. It was grand fun watching a battle royal, unfortunately only verbal, between two rival families, one in actual possession of a table and the other with the moral but unsatisfactory backing of a verbal reservation.

That morning we left for Dalat a distance of 200 miles.

Coming north from Cap St. Jacques we got on to the Mandarin Road which passed through very pretty rubber plantations.

At Phan Thiet where the road to Dalat branches inland we struck out towards the sea again and had lunch in a marvellous little hotel high up on a cliff, cool, clean and quiet and we were sorry we had stayed at Cap St. Jacques instead of Ngoc Liam as this place is named. On a cliff opposite us were two very well preserved Cham towers.

THE CHAMS

The Chams are now practically extinct but were an exceedingly powerful race of Hindu origin. They were masters of the coast till the 10th century but were squeezed to death between the Khmers and the Annamites.

Their typical architecture was of carved brick and many of their towers remain to this day, sad silent monuments to a glory that is past.

From Phan Thiet up to the mountains we passed through the finest scenery of our trip. Up and up we climbed each turn and twist giving a more magnificent view than the one before.

We often passed groups of savage Moles armed with cross-bows and arrows, the men clad in a loin cloth and nothing else and the women naked above the waist. They carry their belongings in high conical baskets on their backs and cover enormous distances. In this part of the world the houses are built on high stilts, twice as high as the Philippine ones and the ladder is drawn up at night. The houses themselves, made of matting, are only high enough to kneel in. We were now approaching Djiring which is the hunters' paradise. Expeditions from museums and zoological gardens all over the world come here for specimens and there are various organisations which cater specially for tourists who are keen on big game shooting.

Dalat itself, the hill station of Indo China stands 4,500 feet up in the mountains and the beautiful, cool fresh air, put new life into us, and during the four days we spent there we did lots of walking. The surrounding country is a game reservation and deer are plentiful and remarkably tame.

We paid a visit to a Mole village, this one not built on high stilts but stuck on the side of a hill. It was interesting but incredibly dirty.

THE WOMEN

The women pierce and stretch the lobes of their ears and put in wooden rings and tobacco boxes. Some of the objects they wear in their ears are at least three inches in diameter and when the ear is empty it hangs down in a most disgusting way.

I will not take up your time expatiating on the beauties (natural) of Dalat, but will hurry back to the Mandarin Road.

We left at the crack of dawn and soon came to the extreme edge of the Langbian Plateau. Away down below we could see the Plateau of Danbleum and it was difficult to believe that even that was 3,000 feet above sea level.

We expected to find the road bad but though it was not metalled it had a very good surface and banked like the Cresta run. We fairly sized round its corkscrew descent stopping for breath occasionally but looking it again immediately on account of the most amazingly beautiful and grand scenery. Little Mole villages were clinging to the precipitous mountain sides, clear cascades of silver fresh water dropping down into inviting pools and blue mountain tops in the distance made every corner a surprise.

From the Danbleum Plateau to sea level it was just as lovely.

We struck the Mandarin Road at Phan-Bang and from there to Mha-Trang it was uninteresting or rather tame after the grandeur of the mountains. The country, however, is prettily wooded and there are many Cham towers and tombs to be seen.

We were making for Qui Hon and the last seventy miles of that day's journey were simply superb. The road skirts the bay of Xuan Dai and reminds one inevitably of the Cote d'Azur. The colouring is gorgeous, intense blue sea, clear yellow sands (with no half eaten mangoes) palm trees and white beaches.

From Dalat to Qui Hon was practically 300 miles and it is worth the trip to Indo-China to see such a variety of different types of scenery in such a short distance.

FLAT COUNTRY

The road from Qui Hon to Tourane is through very interesting flat country though we passed, in a distance of 19 miles the groups of Cham towers known as the towers of Jade, of Lion, of Silver, of Ivory, Brass and Gold. Despite their attractive and high sounding names they were the same old brick towers we had been seeing all along.

Of Tourane there is not much to be said. It is a French Concession, has a magnificent harbour and is tremendously spacious and stretched out. It is not busy but gives one the impression of just waiting for something to turn up to turn it into a thriving city. Perhaps now that it has become RECREIO TO CLASH WITH K. C. C.

TO-DAY'S TENNIS

The most important tennis match in the 'B' Division League to-day will be that between the Recreio and the K. C. C. at King's Park. Recreio were recently beaten by the C. R. C. and to have any chance whatsoever of being in the running, that is of course allowing for the C. R. C. to fall in one match, they have to win to-day. Kowloon play much better at home and should give the Recreio a close game. Gray and Crawford are doing very well and are fast developing into a strong pair. Crawford has still a lot to learn yet to improve his net play. Burnett and Ramsey should do very well but they do not seem to combine and it would be well worth trying Polglase as a partner for Burnett. Recreio on the other hand have three well balanced pairs. Two pairs having played in the 'A' Division last year.

C. R. C. (1) are playing away against the University and should score another easy win. Hong Kong Club are at home to the I. R. C. and a close struggle should be witnessed. The Club have a much better team now than they had at the commencement of the League and should just win.

Craigengower travel to the C. R. C. to meet their "B" team and should walk away with the points. Hachlums and Leonard have teamed up again and should account for three sets.

Civil Service play at home against the C. B. A. and should win quite easily.

The programme is—
C. R. C. (2) v C. C. C.
C. de Rec. v K. C. C.
H. K. C. C. v I. R. C.
C. B. C. v C. B. A.

OLYMPIC FESTIVAL IN BERLIN

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special

Berlin, July 20.

Great festivals were held at the Berlin Rathaus on Monday mid-day to mark the beginning of the Olympic torch relay run in Greece. Dr. Lewald, President of the Olympic Organisation Committee held a speech and handed Dr. Lippert, Commissioner of State for Berlin who acts as Mayor, an artistically carved torch handle, thanking him for the thoroughness of the preparations for the Games.

When the speech was over, Dr. Lippert closed by calling "Hail Olympia," whereupon the Greek Flag was slowly hoisted on the balcony of the Berlin Rathaus and the Greek National Anthem played by an orchestra. Then the 52 flags of the nations sending teams to Berlin were hoisted in the breeze.

At the very hour in which the torch was kindled at the Zeus Altar in Olympia, the inmates of the Olympic Village held a simple ceremony, torches being lighted at 11.45, while at noon the bells began pealing. At this minute the loudspeakers began with the announcement: "Here is the Olympic Flame, just been solemnly lit at the Zeus Altar."

One could then distinctly hear the exclamations of the crowd in the sacred city.—

DAVIS CUP TENNIS

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special

London, July 20.

In the Davis Cup Doubles of the Inter-zone Final on Monday, the Australian pair Crawford and MacGrath defeated the German couple von Cramm and Henkel in four sets 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, making the score two games to one in Australia's favour. The Australian, Quist could not play owing to his injuries and was thus replaced by MacGrath.—

ALVES DEFEATS NORONHA

Sensational End To Interesting Game

TEN SHOTS IN LAST FOUR HEADS

A sensational finishing effort by H. A. Alves who scored a 3, 2, 2 and a 3, in the last four heads in the Open Singles Championship match, gave him victory yesterday over J. E. Noronha, a club-mate by 22 shots to 19, when the two Interport Lawn Bowls players met on the Kowloon Bowling Green Club.

Until the 17th head, Noronha led comfortably by 19 shots to 12. Then Alves by dint of superb bowls scored 10 shots to run out winner by three clear shots.

Alves registered a two on the first head, but thereafter did not secure another shot until the fifth with a three. Noronha on the other hand obtained a four on the second head and scored steadily till the 17th, when his championship ambitions were rudely squashed by his opponent. A three at the 6th, a two on the 15th and 17th, and singles on eight other heads gave spectators the impression that Noronha had the match in his pocket.

Alves following the two and three already mentioned only scored on the 9th (three), 10th (one) and 11th (three) before his sensational and spectacular finish in the last four heads.

Rarely has such a run of play been witnessed in the Colony Singles Championship series.

EXPERIENCE WON THE DAY

OMAR'S BLUNDER

Bright Play At Bowls

A high standard of bowls was exhibited by A.W. Grimmer and A.M. Omar, that youthful C.C.C. "B" player in the open singles lawn bowls championship which was played off yesterday on the Football Club green, and which ended dramatically for A.M. Omar when he gave away two shots on the 19th head to enable Grimmer to win by 21 shots to 15.

Unable to find the right green at the commencement, Omar was led on the 8th head by 14 shots to 1, and thereafter with confidence, returned to him he played an inspired game and gradually overhauled the deficit. By the 17th head Grimmer was leading by 17 shots to 15 and Omar was then responsible for some bright play.

At the crucial moment, that is on the 19th head, Omar was actually lying one, when he mistook that shot for Grimmer's, and with his last wood sent the woods rolling to give Grimmer two shots and the game.

Throughout the game, the play was bright and interesting, and although Grimmer was leading all the way he had to go all out to clinch the decision. In the end experience won the day and Grimmer is now one of the four to compete in the semi-finals.

TORCH LIT AT OLYMPIA

Journey To Berlin, Begins

Olympia, July 20.

In stiflingly hot weather, the flame for the Olympic torch, which will be carried to the Olympic Games in Berlin from this city of ancient Greece, was kindled by the rising sun at the Olympic Pillars, to-day, and the first burst of fire was heralded by twelve maidens who speeded the athletes on their journey.

The first runner seized the torch almost as soon as it was blazing, and started on his journey. Ultimately 3,000 runners, each covering approximately one kilometre, will carry the torch.

The torch is expected to pass the Bulgarian frontier Thursday.

King George of Greece will witness the ceremony of relaying the torch at Athens' Olympic Stadium, where elaborate arrangements have been made to receive the runner on the road to Germany.—

BISHOP'S BLESSING

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special

Olympia, July 20.

As the first torch was kindled and the Olympic Oath repeated and Coubertin's proclamation read, the Bishop of Pyrgos stepped up to the torch to give it his blessing in the words:

"The Word of God that is the light of all people sanctify this name and bring it to the glorious country of the Germans bringing with it the fraternal greetings of Christian Greece to the befriended German people. At the same time may this burning wish light a flame in the hearts and spirits of all people, runners and athletes to the glory of God. Amen."—

SPORT LEADER'S GREETINGS

Berlin, July 20.

The German Sport Leader, Herr von Tschammer und Osten telegraphed to the Crown Prince of Greece:

"I wish to convey to Your Royal Highness, the President of the Greek Olympic Committee as well as the whole Greek people my inmost participation in the historic hour of the start of the great Olympic Relay run, together with my most cordial greetings and good wishes. May with the flame of the torch, also, the right Olympic spirit come to Germany and give the Games the right dedication. This is the sincere wish of all those who share in the great work of peace embodied in the Olympic Games. (Signed v. Tschammer-Osten).—

POLO CAPTAIN SUSPENDED

London, July 20.

A sensation has been created in English polo circles by the announcement to-day of the suspension of Tyrrell Martin, England's captain in the Westchester Cup competition against United States.

The Hurlingham Committee has suspended him from further play in the Champion Cup in which tournament he was playing for Texas Rangers against the Optimists. The reason for this suspension is "for conduct in that tournament prejudicial to the game."—

The MILWAUKEE ROAD

THE CURSE OF HEROIN

A MENACE TO CHILDREN

The growth of the heroin traffic in Hong Kong, and its danger to the Colony, engaged the attention of the Executive Committee of the Society for the Protection of Children at its monthly meeting held on Monday. The Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall was in the chair.

Mrs. Barker, Hon. Secretary of the Society, spoke of the need of arousing public opinion on the matter, and referred to the danger of nervous and physical instability being inherited by children of addicts. Whilst the great majority of addicts were men, enquiries showed that there were also a great many women addicts. Apart from the moral and physical effects on the children of addicts, there was the further point of parents spending on heroin money which should be spent on their children, this leading to poverty and starvation. Children were also occasionally employed as carriers of the drug.

Sir William Hornell referred to the cocaine traffic in Calcutta in which small boys were usually employed. Experience there was that they did not stop the traffic—in fact, there was one instance in which the same boy was fined fourteen times. The fines were no doubt paid by people behind the scenes.

The Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo stated that the heroin pill evil had grown enormously in the Colony during the past three months, no doubt aided by the putting into circulation of reports that the drug was a cure for venereal disease. The Chinese members of the Executive and Legislative Councils had got into touch with the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs on the subject, and extensive propaganda on the evils of heroin were being undertaken by street lecturers, radio, etc.

Replying to questions, Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg stated that most of the heroin used in the manufacture of pills in Hong Kong came from the North. Formerly the pills sold at $14 per thousand; now, owing to increased demand, the price had risen to $20 per thousand. During the discussion which ensued, it was pointed out that Egypt, as the result of a big campaign, had wiped out the evil in six years.

It was decided to draw the attention of the Government to the evil, and to express the hope that the authorities would do their utmost in measures for its suppression. (Contributed).

MONEY OBTAINED

Appearing on remand, two men were charged with obtaining $80 by menaces from a 23-year-old amah, Lok Sit, of No. 109 Waterloo Road, before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. The accused were: Chung Shing, 48, a licensed hawk, and Chung Hong, 52, a shop fook.

The alleged offence was stated to have taken place on divers dates between July 13 and 17. Inspector Portallion appeared for the prosecution. The case was remanded till Thursday at 11.30 a.m.

Interesting Travelogue

an important link in the air chain the optimism of its founders and planners will be justified.

We were very hospitably entertained by friends and acting on advice undertook a very strenuous little excursion up into the hills to see the ruins of the ancient stronghold of the Chams, My Son. It was built in a remote corner in the hills and is approached by scrambling many hot miles up a river bed. The ruins, two or three groups of which are still in a fair state of preservation are not very impressive but are of great age. They are impressed on my mind by their accessibility than by anything else.

In tourane we also visited the Museum which contains a wonderful collection of Cham carvings which are similar in inspiration to the Khmer ones of Angkor.

The two islands which supply most of the ingredients for bird's nest soup can be seen from here. One other point of interest is the Marble Mountain which is another of those peculiar outcrops of massive rocks which we came across in the upper reaches of the West River in Tonkin and in Laos. This one seems to have wandered far away from the others of its kind and rises in majestic solitude with grottoes and temples in its honey-combed depths.

HILL OF THE CLOUDS

To the north, high up in the sky can be seen the Hill of the Clouds. Here in Tourane and away behind us to the south, all was sunshine and clear blue sky; thro' a pass in the Hill of the Cloud came billowing and rolling a continuous stream of thin white clouds, which were immediately set upon by the fierce Tourane sun and dispersed.

This happens practically every day and it is amazing to drive up and up in brilliant sunshine then pop thro' the pass into a dull grey world. Coming the other way must, of course, be pleasant. We had that experience you will perhaps remember crossing from Annam into Laos near the beginning of our trip.

There is an old fortified gateway on top of the Hill of the Clouds.

Now how to describe Hiei? It is an amazing place and has an atmosphere peculiarly its own. I have read several accounts of visits to Hiei and each traveller mentions meeting an elephant on the road at the entrance to the city. I feel certain that this elephant is kept strolling around expressly to give one the proper impression of Hiei. The Hill of the Clouds might well be the hyphen in Indo-China. Southward of it the relics of the past are all Khmer and Cham that is to say of Indian civilization. Northward it is completely Chinese. Hiei is a little Peking. It has its Forbidden City. It has its walls, temples, courtyards and lakes. Mandarin in gorgeous robes still take part in picturesque ceremonies within the palace of the Emperor of Annam whose capital Hiei is.

It is essential to have a permit to enter the Palace but this is easily obtained. We were particularly fortunate in that our friend M. Hugreze, Governor of Vinh had arranged for us to be looked after by the Chief of Police who gave us a very charming and cultured Annamite gentleman as a guide.

HUI IS NOT ANCIENT

Hui is really not ancient itself. It was selected towards the close of the 18th century by Gia Long who, with the aid of the French had just regained his throne.

The walls of the Citadel were built under the direction of French military engineers, but inside is pure China. The palaces, halls and temples are imposing in height but their effect is gained by long straight lines, corridors and courtyards stretching thro' gateway after gateway as far as the eye can see.

Hui is incredibly clean and one is delighted to find the gorgeousness and splendour of China without its filth.

I have time only to touch one of the splendours of this fairy like capital. The palaces of the living are matched by those of the dead. Each emperor of Annam during his lifetime selects with the aid of magicians, the site of his tomb and builds his final resting place according to his own tastes. These tombs are not merely the dumping place of a body; they are the sanctuary of the spirit retaining life, atmosphere which surrounded the living monarch and are places where his descendants may pass long hours in peaceful meditation.

on the nobility and graciousness of the past. They are composed of several parts. The funeral courtyard contains statues of mandarins horses and elephants; then comes the Pavilion of the Records, the Temple of the Soul's Tablet, the Pleasure Pavilion and lastly, the actual grave.

AN IDEAL PLACE

Hui is an ideal place for meditation. You cannot rush through it. Everything conspires against speed; the climate is heavy and humid. At every turn someone's artistic ancestor has built a little pavilion overlooking a lotus pond or dominating a bend of the River, or Perfume which invites one to pause for a moment.

To any one familiar with China the name River of Perfume might call up memories of house boating from Shanghai up the Soochow Creek. (Laughter). There is however, not the slightest resemblance. The River of Perfume is clear and blue and flows in flowery banks past pavilions, pagodas and palaces. One night in search of adventure I went alone in a sampan and saw crafts gaily decorated and curtained from which came the soft sound of music not unpleasant to western ears.

On our way to Vinh from Hui we left the Mandarin Road and made a detour to Cuating especially to have a lobster tiffin and enjoy the scenery, both of which were well worth the visit.

After spending the night with friends at Vinh we had completed a circle in our journey and our next objective was the Bay of Along. This northern part of the Mandarin Road was most fascinating being continually thronged with people going to market and wearing conical hats which made the crowds resemble fields of mushrooms. It is amazing that the Bay of Along is so little known. In its own way it is to my mind comparable with the Grand Canyon of Colorado, or rather sailing through it is what one would imagine drifting round the peaks in the Grand Canyon would be like on a cloudy day.

FANTASTIC ISLANDS

The Bay of Along covers about 1,800 square miles and has millions of islands each one more fantastic than the other. Ages ago when the earth was settling down, some colossal disturbance pushed up all over Tonkin huge masses of rock. These we saw in the interior in the midst of fertile plains and here we found them in the China Sea. Waves, wind and time have produced the most grotesque effects.

We spent three days on a Chinese junk well fitted up with all modern conveniences in the Bay of Surprises. We also had a large yacht at our disposal and we spent our time cruising around in this fantastic fancy land peopled with rock giants, landing occasionally to visit some extraordinary cave or grotto. In some of these one finds halls with galleries surpassing any cathedral planned by mere man. Masses of stalactites appear like gigantic organs, shafts of sunlight lighting up pinnacles appear like theatrical spot lights. A perilous climb lit by flares carried by a goat-like Annamite leads one, after half a mile of subterranean tunnel out into the brilliant sunshine looking down into a mysterious lake entirely encircled by walls. At another spot, at low tide one can pass by boat through a tunnel into a similar lake.

Rocks in the forms of elephants, fighting cocks, frogs and all sorts of fearsome heraldic beasts rise everywhere as far as the eye can reach. The action of the rocks has worn away the bases of some of these rocks below high water mark so that at low tide one gets the impression of crude statues half unscrewed from their pedestals.

The Bay of Along, will one day be a calling place for all tourists. I have tried to give you some idea of the interest to be found on and near that 1,400 mile stretch of highway known as the Mandarin Road, and although I have only been able to touch on the various points, I hope I have said enough to show you that it well repays a visit. (Applause.)

VOTE OF THANKS

In thanking the speaker for his address, Capt. R. D. Walker said that the speaker had certainly shown them other points of Siam, Cambodia and Annam than their use in America. It had been a very interesting and instructive travelogue. (Applause.)

An announcement was made by the Rotarian Macintosh of a film to be shown of the Rotary Conference held at Shanghai recently. The film would be exhibited at 5.30 p.m. on Friday at Kayamally Building.

QUESTIONS TO BE ASKED

WATER POLLUTION AND OPIUM DIVANS

At to-day's meeting of the Legislative Council, the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo will ask the following questions:

- 1.—With reference to the bathing beach known as Chek Sha, situate midway between Ban Sin Kok and Mui Sek at Junk Bay,—
I. Is Government aware:—
(a) That it is a popular bathing beach frequently resorted to by launch picnic parties?
(b) That a fair sized cesspool was recently constructed and used within approximately 200 yards of high-water mark, and
(c) That two sheds were built and inhabited within approximately 50 yards of the cesspool?
- II. Will Government consider the question of having the cesspool and mounds removed to some other place not adjacent to popular bathing beaches, so that the sea may not be polluted thereby?

DUTY-FREE PETROL

2.—Will Government be good enough to furnish to this Council full information as to the supply from any Government depot or otherwise of duty-free petrol to civil servants—

(a) setting out the terms and conditions and restrictions (if any) under which such supply is given; and

(b) setting out the amount of duty-free petrol so supplied during the years 1934, 1935, and the first six months of 1936.

OPIUM DIVANS

3.—I. Is Government aware that in recent criminal proceedings it was proved in evidence by Crown witnesses that there were no less than 800 opium divans in the Colony, of the existence of which the Authorities had no knowledge and, if so, will Government state whether any explanation has been called for from the Departments concerned as to how such a large number of divans can exist without the knowledge of the Authorities?

II. Will Government state whether any steps have been taken to suppress these divans and, if so, with what result?

NEWS FROM THE WATERFRONT

Freight and Asiatic Passengers Returns

(BY LONGSHOREMAN).

During the 24 hours ended at 9.00 a.m. yesterday, the freight returns, received from the Harbour Office, showed a fairly high tonnage movement, a large proportion of which being contributed by Japanese ships.

The total tonnage of general cargo carried by vessels to the Colony was 9,850 tons, with British steamers carrying 998 tons.

Through cargo for ports beyond the Colony amounted to 29,971 tons, of which 5,030 tons were carried by British steamers.

Asiatic deck passengers entering into the Colony during the 24 hours ended at 9 a.m. yesterday were 1,051, of which 246 were from British steamers.

There were altogether fifteen arrivals, of which four were of British registry, the remainder being of other nationalities, while of the 18 departures, six were British ships, the rest being of other different countries. Particulars as follows:—

Nationality	Ships	Tonnage
British	4	6,028
German	1	4,095
Dutch	2	7,275
French	1	4,584
Japanese	7	16,948
Total	15	39,831

TWO AMERICANS WANTED A "RUN AROUND"

WENT 1800 MILES, PLAN TO GO ANOTHER 1000

(Special Air Mail Service) BY DUDLEY BARKER

London, July 3. Mr. L. W. Wightman, a London taxi-driver, pushed up his flag to the "for hire" position to-day and studied the record of his last journey—1800 miles, £67 10s. "on the clock."

Twelve days ago two American visitors at a London hotel hired his cab and told him drive them to Scotland.

They wanted, they said, "to have a run around."

They got back this morning. The fares liked the trip so much that to-morrow they are off again in the same cab on another journey of 1000 miles.

They are going to Broadway, which they missed by accident on the Scottish trip, and then to Devon and Wales.

NOT ONE PUNCTURE

On their first trip they went up through the Midlands, on through York to the Trossachs and Pitlochry. They saw Glasgow and Aberdeen and Inverness, Perth, Portpatrick and Glenegles.

They called on friends and made detours to buy two jacket suits. On the way back they lingered for a while in the Lake District and passed through Stratford-on-Avon and Oxford.

The taxi used 90 gallons of petrol. It did not have a puncture. "It's different from the West End," Mr. Wightman said. "And what a relief to get out of London traffic! No traffic lights on the Scottish moors and no one-way street round the Lakes."

LOST ONE

"I got lost only once, and once I accidentally broke a traffic regulation in a one-way street in Glasgow. When I did that the policeman blew a whistle at me. Scared the life out of me. Bit of a shock for a Londoner to find policemen with whistles."

"The clock registers up to 99.6d. After a while I got tired of putting the flag up, and down to start it over again. Anyway, we were not going by the clock. Once we got out of London we had an agreed price for the whole run."

"We became quite famous in Scotland. It was the first time they had seen a London taxi up there, and the story seemed to go ahead of us. Everywhere we went we were recognised and often cheered, and every time we stopped a crowd collected."

"I let the cab out once to see how fast she would go. We did 45 in one hour and ten minutes, and we touched 57 m.p.h. Not bad, that, for a London taxi."

SHIPPING MOVEMENT

Now is the time to visit Australia & New Zealand lands of Sunshine and Romance. "Down Under" you will find a new being and even if you are not inclined towards fishing, shooting or mountaineering you will find that the Antipodes have plenty to offer you—including 20 for your pound.

On the way down your life aboard will be as you wish, quiet or hectic for the R. & A. will honour your every wish. And by the way, there is no additional charge for Deck Cabins and there is of course a Sun Deck swimming pool, an Orchestra and a fine band.

A Surgeon and Stewards are at your disposal and last but not least—we had almost forgotten—the cuisine will set you listening eagerly for the Grog.

Regular monthly sailings from Hong Kong to Shanghai and Japan and Hong Kong to Australia.
